NO POCKETS IN A SHROUD.

Oh, ye who bow at Mammon's shrine,
Whose hearts with greed are growing cold,
Who turn your backs on things divine
And worship but the god of gold,
What will it profit you when death
Lays low the haughty and the proud
And robs the wasted form of breath?
There are no pockets in a shroud.

Your thoughts by day, your dreams by night,
Are but of grasping golden gain;
Your guide is but the reason light
Of riches burning in your brain.
You care all such things as these
And think of nothing but the gain.
And struggle as a mad dog crowd
To clutch the dollars, but you'll find
There are no pockets in a shroud.

Ye unfortunates who grind the poor
Beneath a cold, relentless heel,
Who overshadow many a door
With cloud of misery and fear
No sympathy to see you lie
Beneath the hand of sorrow dead,
Remember when you come to die
There are no pockets in a shroud.

What is the profit to the man
Whose life to Mammon has been given?
A bridge of gold can never span
The gulf between the earth and heaven!
What will it be to him to find
The wealth with which he is endowed
At death's gate must be left behind
There are no pockets in a shroud.

This life is but a span; today
We're here, tomorrow we are gone,
Have failed from the earth to stray
Into eternity's strange dawn;
Yet in the hungry greed for gains
Too many at the golden shrine bowed
Forget that when the life spark wanes

JUDGE MAGUIRE.

Last Tuesday morning petitions were presented to Governor Crane asking for the appointment of John G. Maguire, Esq., of this city, to be an Associate Justice of the Fourth District Court of Eastern Middlesex to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Benjamin E. Bond last week, which were favorably received. They were presented to the Governor by Hon. Edward F. Johnson, Chief Judge of said Court, who supplemented the documents by such explanatory remarks as the subject required. Judge Johnson was introduced to the Governor by City Solicitor of Woburn, Francis P. Curran, Esq., and Senator Fred Joy of Winchester, who also spoke in complimentary terms of the fitness of Mr. Maguire for the honorable position sought to be obtained for him.

There were two petitions, of similar import, one signed by every member of the Bar residing in the Fourth Judicial District, and the other by numerous prominent citizens of Woburn. Such an expression of confidence and esteem—a unanimous request—must have been exceedingly gratifying to Mr. Maguire. The Governor remarked to Judge Johnson that it was pleasant to find such unanimity among the Bar and people in behalf of the candidate, and that his appointment would be submitted to the Council on Wednesday morning. So hereafter it will be Judge Maguire.

Perhaps it may not be out of place to say a word or two in this connection respecting the new judicial appointee. Mr. Maguire was born at Waltham 50 years ago. He came to Woburn on July 25, 1877, and has been successfully engaged in the practice of law here ever since. He graduated from the Boston Law School in 1876 and at the June Term of the Supreme Court, 1877, was examined for admission to the Bar, and admitted. He and his class took the first examinations under the then new law, the exactions of which were much more thorough and severe for the applicant than the work had previously been. The class consisted of John G. Maguire of Waltham; Judge Charles S. Lilley of Lowell; Judge George F. Lawton of the Middlesex county Probate Court; Ex-Mayor Alger of Cambridge; F. A. Benner of Lowell; Thomas F. Larkin of Waltham.

In 1888 Lawyer Maguire represented Woburn in the Legislature, and made a good record there. In 1885 he was elected Collector of Taxes for this town, and has been re-elected without opposition annually from that time to this. He was one of the original incorporators of the Board of Trustees of the Woburn Public Library, his associates being Hon. John Cummings, Hon. Edward D. Hayden, Hon. John M. Harlow, Hon. Edward W. Hudson, and Leonard Thompson, Esq. Mr. Maguire has been Clerk of the Board many years.

Mr. Maguire is a leading and influential citizen. In him the best interests of Woburn have always found an advocate. He has for years enjoyed a lucrative law practice, and his standing at the Bar is an honorable one.

The prevailing opinion in this city seems to be that Governor Crane made no mistake in appointing Mr. Maguire an Associate Justice of the Fourth District Court. The action of His Excellency is cordially approved by the public, and unanimously by the Bar.

STATE CONVENTION.

The Republican State Convention to choose delegates to the Republican National Convention, to be held at Philadelphia, will be held in Boston on Thursday, April 26.

Republican Caucuses to select delegates to the State and District conventions were held in this city last Wednesday evening, April 18, but as yesterday was holiday we were unable to obtain the results.

ARBOR DAY.

Governor Crane has designated by proclamation, issued last Monday, Saturday, April 28, 1900, as Arbor Day. Of which the public will take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Mr. Dewey's Presidential boom for her Admiral is as good as busted. It failed to take with the people, and in the words of Grover Cleveland, it has already fallen into innocuous disuse. It was a pity that the good Admiral should have listened and been charmed into doing such foolish things by the siren's song. But the proverb says: "There is no fool like an old fool," especially with a new wife. And Dewey's is a case in point.

It is suspected that the opposition in the Legislature to the ratification of the Boston & Albany Railroad lease to the New York Central Company arises from a desire and intention on the part of a few cheap members to make some money out of it.

The present Legislature ought to be within 6 or 8 weeks of its close; indeed, it should come to an end much sooner than that; but the members are not acting as though they thought so. It is on the whole rather a cheap body of law-makers.

A gentle and refreshing rain visited this section of country last Tuesday and started the buds to growing. Lilac bushes, we observe, are beginning to show considerable green from the opening of their buds, and soon shrubbery will be in leaf and gardens in bloom.

Rev. Frank H. Allen, son of Mr. Houghton Allen, a Woburn boy, for some years a settled minister at Albuquerque, N. M., will fill the pulpit of the celebrated C. M. Sheldon, author of "In His Steps," at Topeka, Kansas, the coming 8 months, or during Mr. Sheldon's absence abroad.

It is reported that the Board of Health are in favor of the proposition for draining and improving Town Meadow for a public park. Which shows that they are intelligent men and see things in the right light. It is the best kind of a scheme for beautifying our city, and deserves to be pushed.

Rev. George M. Gerish, a native of Woburn, and a rising young man, has resigned the pastorate of the Congregational Church at Thorndike which he has filled for the last four years with marked success and acceptance. His resignation takes effect on July 1, next. He is an able and popular minister.

The weather on Easter Sunday was all that any reasonable heart could have asked for. It was bright, cheerful, and in perfect consonance with the spirit of Easter, and besides, it gave the women a grand chance to display their new hats and gowns. It was a beautiful day and the church services were in accord with it.

Charlie A. Jones, Esq., has served, with faithful care and business ability, as Clerk and Treasurer of the First Baptist Corporation of this city continuously for 25 years. The 25th anniversary of his election was appropriately recognized in a set of highly complimentary resolutions by the church a few days ago.

A careful and experienced clipper is constantly at Mr. Charles P. Buckley's horse clipping stable where patrons may rely on having their work done promptly and in the best possible manner. The stable is doing a big business and everything is done to the satisfaction of the public. Mr. Buckley's charges are reasonable.

Supt. Brackett of the N. W. Street Railway is of the opinion, individually, that the electric road gap between the north end of his line and Wilmington should have been built long ago. He realizes the great value which that short piece of road would have to Woburn, Wilmington, and his Company. So say we all of us.

Mr. Richard Carlton, one of the oldest and most popular Conductors on the Southern Division of the B. & M. Railroad, and a Veteran of the Civil War, made his appearance on the street last Monday for the first time since being taken down by a severe attack of grip. He had quite a serious struggle with the enemy, but conquered him at last.

Our Wilmington correspondent announces the resignation of Rev. Elijah Harmon from the pulpit of the Wilmington Congregational church. He is well and favorably known in this city where he has often greatly edified the people by his able sermons, and many will regret that he has left the Wilmington church, which he served with success 14 years.

Locations have been granted for a street railroad from North Woburn via Wilmington, to the terminus of the Lowell Suburban Street Railway at Tewksbury Centre, and the same is to be built soon. A road to close the gap between North Woburn and Wilmington is what the business men of Woburn have been striving for. The new line will make an important feeder to the North Woburn road and prove of great benefit to both Woburn and Wilmington. Mr. Gordon Parker, who is prominent in this enterprise, informed a JOURNAL man last Saturday that the road from North Woburn to Tewksbury is sure to be built.

Professor Wortley, oculist, did a good business at Hanson & Co.'s store Wednesday. He will be here again on May 24.

Note carefully the petition of Col. C. F. Woodford et al., and the order of Council thereon. It means business and a good thing for Woburn.

We clip, with much satisfaction, the following interesting piece of news from late Boston papers: Woburn is to have a Golf Club, with the following Board of Managers: President, E. H. Lounsbury; Vice-President, Heber B. Clewley; Secretary, Edith E. Ramsdell; Treasurer, E. G. Preston; Greens Committee, C. M. Wright, E. F. Trull, P. W. Linscott; Committee on Constitution and Name, P. W. Linscott; W. W. Crosby, E. F. Trull. The membership of the Club is now 75, and the course will be laid out on the land in the rear of the Wheeler House, North Woburn. The tract contains 22 acres.

The following officers of the Woburn Co-operative Bank were elected last week: President and Director, James Skinner; Vice-President and Director, S. Frankford Trull; Directors: Thomas Salmon, Lawrence Reade, Henry C. Hall, Frank W. Graydon, J. Henry Parker, Henry E. Smith, William E. Davis, Fred J. Brown, George Buchanan, John K. Murdock, Winthrop Hammond, John Maloney, Charles G. Lund, Thomas Moore, Squire B. Goddard; Auditors: Herbert B. Dow, Arthur E. Gage, Marcellus Littlefield; Clerk of Corporation, John C. Buck. Subsequently the Directors met and elected John C. Buck Secretary and Treasurer.

Fewer intoxicated persons have been seen on the streets, and there have been a less number of arrests, since the police raid on a certain lower Main street hotel than there were prior to it. The Mayor's determined attitude in that affair, and his subsequent dealing with the force, evidently frightened some of the vendors of strong drinks and had a salutary effect on the traffic. We are informed by persons who pretend to know that kitchen barrooms have become things of the past in this city. The vigilance of the police, and their vigorous enforcement of the law, have driven people out of the business, and the city is now free, or nearly so, of illicit saloons.

Our city churches were resplendent in flowers last Sunday. They also resounded with sweet Easter music. The ministers preached sermons appropriate to the day, and the Sunday Schools gave Easter concerts. The weather was delightful, so that everyone who wanted to could attend the services, and the congregations were large. Considering that it has not been so very long since Protestants took up the practice of making special account of Easter, it being considered in the light of pagan worship, and the day, as its name indicates, of pagan origin, its observance, and the celebrations in its honor, have reached a high state of perfection. In the matter of decorations and songs Woburn churches and Sunday Schools were well up towards the head of the procession last Sunday.

If the case had been less serious it would have been more funny. Between 11 and 12 o'clock last Sunday forenoon a lad about 20 years old, loaded with a muzzle with tangleleg, went into Police Headquarters on Cornhill street and finding nobody there proceeded to empty the rooms of their contents, in which undertaking he had great success. After removing such things as he thought to be superfluous, the young man took a chair, a cuspidor, some blotting paper, and a well filled inkstand, and conveyed them down stairs to the front of the building and sent himself home on a milk cart. No one could make out or make him out. After awhile he left his seat and roamed away to view the town. While engaged in this pleasing pastime an acquaintance came along in a buggy and took him home.

It seems as natural as eating custard pie to see Arthur Whitcher at the "Old Reliable" drugstore in Savings Bank Block that he owned and ran so successfully before selling out to Wilcox two years ago when the Klondike fever struck him. He has bought back the "old stand," and there he is again "as large as life and twice as natural." Arthur is a born druggist, not a "machine made" one, and his reappearance at his former store, as proprietor and sole manager, meets with cordial public approval. Whitcher has rechristened the store "The Pill-box," an appropriate name for a medicine dispensary, and at "The Pillbox" he will be glad to meet all of his former customers and friends, and as many new ones as may feel disposed to call on him. He will be found the same get-up-and-get Arthur W. Whitcher as of old.

Every time the Commonwealth has plans to distribute among her towns and cities the town of Winchester is sure to be on hand with her dish right side up to catch some of them. And she almost always makes connections. Winchester is a town whose interests the Commonwealth considers it worth while to take into account.

The other day there was $100,000 to be distributed among various municipalities for the purpose of building State roads. Winchester was present at the divvy and got $4,600 for her share. Where was Woburn "while the ark was passing by?" If Winchester wants a 200,000 dollar parkway all she has to do is to raise her hand and let her wants be known; the Commonwealth does the rest. If Woburn asks for a similar favor the Commonwealth turns up her nose and replies: "Woburn be —d."

Rev. B. R. Jewell of Stoneham presided at the temperance meeting in Mechanics Hall last Wednesday afternoon, and Rev. Joseph Jackson of Woburn was Secretary. Addresses were delivered by Rev. W. B. Tolman, Mr. E. J. Edmonds, Rev. B. R. Jewell, Rev. James Fowler, Rev. Alfred Noon, Secretary of the Mass. T. A. S., called the meeting to order and spoke.

There isn't much doubt but that this city will go "No License" next December, and that too on an honest, conscientious vote. The people are getting their eyes wide open and finding out where their interests lie. On a vote uninfluenced by political conditions "No License" came within 94 of winning out last fall, a result extremely encouraging to temperance people. Owners of real estate and business men are especially interested in this question and are beginning to make their influence felt at the polls. They see that Woburn can't grow so long as the present liquor policy exists.

Did it ever occur to the public mind that the Boston & Maine Railroad Company are doing a great deal, year after year, towards educating people up to a proper appreciation of the beautiful in nature, by encouraging the cultivation of flowers on the station grounds of their great New England

Collector's Sale

Real Estate for Non-Payment of Taxes.

Woburn, Mass., April 4, 1900.

The owners and occupants of the following described parcels of real estate situated in the City of Woburn, in the County of Middlesex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public are hereby notified that the taxes thereon severally assessed for the year 1899, according to the list compiled to me as Collector of Taxes for the City of Woburn, by the Assessors of Taxes for said Woburn, remain unpaid, and that said parcels of real estate will be offered for sale by public auction, at the office of the Collector of Taxes, Room No. 4, Municipal Building, Common Street, in said Woburn, on FRIDAY, May 25, 1900, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, for the payment of said taxes and interest from October 15, 1899, together with costs and charges thereon, unless the same shall be previously discharged.

The sums set against the descriptions of the several estates show the amounts due thereon, respectively for the taxes and interest, and the amount of which each of said estates is to be sold, not including costs and interest thereon, and costs and charges incident to the sale.

Literary Notices.

There are some very beautiful illustrated Easter features in the April number of DONAHUE'S MAGAZINE, notably the Feast of Easter, a scholarly study by Rev. George W. Leach; A Psalm for Easter, by Rev. P. J. Corrican, S. J.; Holy Week in Florence, by Anna Seaton Schmidt; Easter Morn, by Rev. John J. Donlan; and It Is the Resurrection Morn, by Henry Coyle. Rev. Joseph P. McQuaid, who worked as a chaplain among the American Volunteers in Manila, gives authoritative information relative to the real character of the Filipinos, the question of government, standing of the friars, the best means of ending hostilities, etc.

Rev. Patrick J. Supple, D.D., gives a delightful review of My New Curate, selecting the most impressive passages and most tender scenes to demonstrate the truth of his conclusion that this book is the Typical Catholic Novel, an exquisite Irish ballad, Old Kemmure, how it finds many admirers, as well as Revellie, and The Song that Lives, by Charles S. O'Neill. The reawakening of nature at this season forms the theme of Bloom and Sky, and The Edge of Spring. Porto Rico and Its People is a paper that throws much light on the conduct of affairs and existing conditions in the new possession.

The Hand and the Crucifix, a very happily and there are several very pleasing short stories. People in Print, The Question Box, and Book Reviews, complete this Easter number.

A Thousand Tongues.—Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All private and family doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure: "It soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember to have enjoyed."

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, APRIL 27, 1900.

Last Monday the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, and members of the Metropolitan Park Commission, on their own motion, but not unbeknown to our city officials, came out here and perambulated the route of the new road from the Arlington Road, on which latter it is proposed to expend $15,000 as an approach to, or part of, said Boulevard, if the Committee above named shall report favorably to the Legislature on a petition now before them for that purpose, and are said to have given the scheme their unofficial approval. They were met at the northern terminus of the Winchester Parkway, or near it, by Mayor Davis, members of the Board of Public Works, members of the City Council, City Hall incumbents, Federal officers, and citizens, and taken in carriages over the carriageable parts of the route, and courteously piloted the rest of the way on foot. At the close of the inspection our distinguished visitors were conducted to the banquet hall of the Woburn Club, where a substantial and palatable luncheon was set before them. When this pleasing feature of the affair was over the gentlemen returned to their official duties at the Hub.

Last Tuesday Supt. Brackett filed a petition for the Lynn & Boston Street Railroad Company with City Clerk Finn praying the City Council of Woburn to grant them the right complete the construction of their road from North Woburn to the Wilmington town line, and on the same day he lodged a petition with the Town Clerk of Wilmington asking for the privilege of continuing the same in that town. These petitions cover the ground of that of Col. Woodward and others, published in this paper last week, and a hearing on which is to be given by the Woburn City Council tonight. This means the building of the short gap between North Woburn and Wilmington which the public have long been clamorous for. The Lynn & Boston Company promise to build the road at once and run it in the best modern style if the franchise is granted them, and there is reason to believe that they mean it. Col. Woodward's Company is the Lowell & Woburn and their plan is to build from North Woburn to Tewksbury Centre and there connect with the Lowell & Suburban line. The Council will, no doubt, carefully consider both petitions and decide for the best.

The Republican State convention was held in Music Hall, Boston, yesterday. It was full and harmonious. Delegates-at-large to the National convention were chosen as follows: Henry Cabot Lodge, Samuel W. McCall, William W. Plunkett, Walter Clifford.

It is in order to ask why distinguished honors were conferred upon a rank and persistent opponent of President McKinley and his Administration?

Last Wednesday Gov. Crane reappointed Hon. Rufus R. Wade Chief of the Massachusetts District Police, a position which he has filled many years with credit to himself and for the good of the State. In matters pertaining to his office Chief Wade has a National reputation.

Dana F. Flanders, Esq., General Passenger and Ticket Agent of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company, wife and child, sailed for Europe on the Dominion Line Steamer New England last Wednesday morning from Boston.

Successors to PARKER, THE DRUGGIST.

When will the City Council get ready to allow Supt. Brackett to remove the track of the N. W. St. R. R. on upper Main st. to the centre of the street? He has been prepared for a long while.

Mr. Fred W. Ruggles, the popular summer hotel manager, has gone to Canaan, N. H., to put the Jerusalem Spring House in order for vacation days. It is a great resort for Woburn people.

At a meeting of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company last week, Rev. Robin in his address alluded to the recent death of Dr. Graves, the Company's Surgeon, as a noble man and a true American.

The Boston & Maine Railroad Co. have awarded to Ellis & Buswell of this city the contract for building two bridges in Arlington village over streets to abolish grade crossings. They amount to about $35,000.

A Boston sport asked of a Woburn sport the other day: "Well, how are things out to Woburn now days?" and received this answer: "Oh, Woburn's no good any longer; Davis has ruined it for our business."

The plays to be given tonight by the Senior Class of the High School at Music Hall are "Mrs. Willis's Will," and "An Open Secret," and an esteemed lady friend of the JOURNAL writes, "both are very good."

Crystal Fount Lodge and Woburn Encampment marched in the procession and took part in the great Odd Fellows celebration at Reading yesterday. The Woburn Brass Band, the oldest band in the country, furnished the music.

Deacon Alva Buckman is the senior merchant in this city. For 44 years, right along, without a break, he has been supplying the public with shoes, and the first lip against his business integrity is yet to be heard.

Mr. W. P. Chute has bought the West property on Pleasant street recently occupied by Dr. Bartlett and family, and will make it his future home. It consists of a nice new residence, good stable, ample grounds, and is considered one of the best places in the city.

We return thanks to The Berlin Iron Bridge Company of East Berlin, Conn., for an invitation to attend their 7th Annual Oyster Roast to come off at 6 o'clock this evening, April 27. The card of invitation was specially designed and executed for the occasion, and is a beauty.

Supt. Emerson's monthly report last Tuesday evening contained good matter. It said among other things that of the graduates from our public schools in the last 10 years 79 had been teachers in them, and that they had done satisfactory work.

Woburn will undoubtedly appoint Mr. Cassidy Inspector of Plumbing. When he receives his commission he will devote his whole time to the inspection of plumbing in that city and Winchester. This arrangement will undoubtedly be satisfactory to the plumbers in both places.—Winchester Star.

The prospects look good for a new Street Railway from North Woburn, through Wilmington to Tewksbury Centre, the terminus of the Lowell & Suburban Street Railway. Locations for the entire route have been granted. The proposed route is 8 1/2 miles, the track of standard gauge, and the capital stock is $90,000.

Col. C. E. Woodward is interested in the new road.—Winchester Star.

The serious offence of mutilating and defacing a valuable painting in the art gallery of the Public Library the other evening merits severe condemnation, and the Trustees and Police, if the offence is repeated, will be certain to capture the offender and visit the utmost penalty of the law upon that person. Suspicion points to two individuals under sixteen years of age, and parents are cautioned to use their influence with their children to respect public property and impress upon them the enormity of such misdemeanors.

At the Republican caucus held in this city on April 18, the following delegates were chosen:

Firemen's Ball.

The entertainment and annual ball of the Firemen's Relief Association in the Auditorium last Wednesday evening was one of the most pleasant and successful social events of the season.

The attendance was not only large but composed of the best people of the city, by whom the occasion was highly enjoyed.

The Highland Orchestra, John Cole Andrews Manager and Director, never acquitted itself more creditably, or afforded a half of listeners greater pleasure. It is one of the best and most popular orchestras in this section of country, and its work at this grand ball, in point of selection and execution, was of a high order of merit.

The Biscopio entertainment by Howard Stiles of Boston was one of the most satisfactory features of the affair. Many people attended solely for the purpose of enjoying it, and everyone spoke in the highest terms of the performance. It was unique and eminently entertaining.

The exhibition was succeeded by the ball. Chief Fire Engineer Clarence Littlefield was Floor Director, Engineer F. E. Tracy was Assistant Floor Director, and the Aides were George H. Newcomb, Amos Bryington, W. P. O'Connor, J. H. McGovern, Frank Callahan, J. H. Bates, C. B. Feltledge, J. P. McKay, Charles McManus, E. E. Stowers, and W. R. Greenleaf.

Perfect order was preserved from first to last, and in every respect the occasion was a genteel and lightened one. The dancing was kept up well into the small hours of the night, and when the ball broke up and the people left for their homes it was felt that the Firemen's Relief Association had done the handsome thing by the public.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her.

She then wrote to Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose.

She continued to take it and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her housework, and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this medicine sent on request.

Store, Only 50 cents and $1.00, every bottle guaranteed.

Frank Bigelow Pierce.

Frank Bigelow Pierce, a son of the late Charles Pierce and Margery T. (Allen) Pierce, died at the home of his mother, 23 Montvale Ave., Monday, April 23, 1900, at 2.45 A. M., at the age of 49 years, 3 months and 15 days.

He was a native of Woburn, Mass., during which time he has been confined to his bed. Mr. Pierce has been ill for more than a year with a disease of the kidneys and early in February was stricken down at his mother's home with pneumonia from the effects of which he did not rally.

Mr. Pierce was the fifth child in a family of ten children, and his death is the first to break the circle. Nine of these children are boys and one a girl, the oldest being 57 years of age and the youngest 37 years.

Their names, including the deceased, are: C. Alonzo, Elbridge W., Warren T., Sarah F., wife of George W. Duren, Frank B., Elmore A., Arthur W., Clarence A., Sumner Y., and Leonard E. Pierce. Charles Pierce, the father, who was well-known in Woburn, died in 1887, in his 68th year, but not more than a year ago.

His mother, Mrs. Margery T. Thompson Pierce, is now living at the age of 81 years, and is in possession of all her faculties and remarkably smart for her age.

The deceased was a shoe stitcher by trade and a most skillful workman. He has also manufactured children's shoes and slippers.

A widow, Mrs. Almira R. Duren, Pierce, and one son, Herbert D. Pierce.

Funeral services were held at Mrs. Pierce's home Wednesday, at 2.30 P. M., Rev. Henry C. Parker officiating.

Mr. Pierce was a private character, only relatives and close friends of the family being present. The funeral services were held in Woodbrook Cemetery.

It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear one suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) druggist called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with cough. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has found it a most successful remedy for the cough.

City Council.

At a meeting of the Board on April 17, the appointment of Gordon Parker for Milk Inspector, and Austin G. French to be Keeper of the Lockup, was received from the Mayor.—There was a vote of 5-0 in favor of the appointment of the Board System for a survey of the city.—Finance Committee reported a favorable report from the same on municipal watering of streets. Same Committee reported in favor of building a new High Schoolhouse.—Salary of Inspector of Plumbing fixed at $800.—The Finance Committee reported on the proper building of lower Main street pressing necessity. (Good Exp.)—Ordered that the Board of Public Works be requested to furnish estimates of cost of extending sewer mains on upper Main street to Eaton ave. and on Mishawum Avenue.—Adopted.

Woman's Club.

The Woman's Club spent a delightful afternoon with Prof. Southwick on Friday, April 20. The program included the following selections:

1. Mandy, a Story of the South.

2. Scenes from "The Rivalry."

3. Extract from "Snowbound."

4. Scenes from "Richard III."

5. The Information of Uncle Billy.

6. The Camel's Lament. (By himself.)

7. The Honor of the Woods. (Requested.)

Mrs. Martha E. Bond gave "Current Events."

The next meeting will be Friday afternoon, May 4, when the annual election of officers will take place.

L. B. B. Clerk.

A. R. DeFluent, editor of the Journal, Doylestown, Ohio, suffered for a number of years from rheumatism in his right shoulder and arm, and was unable to use it.

He says: "My right arm and hand were almost useless. I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and was surprised to receive relief almost immediately. The Pain Balm has been a constant companion of mine ever since, and I feel that it is a box of Cure guaranteed. Sold by Gordon Parker, Druggist."

For sale by Huntley & Co., Druggists.

On the basis of five persons to each poll, which is quite a low estimate, the number of Scandinavians in Woburn is about 700. In the immediate vicinity, Winchester, chiefly—are others bringing the total up to 1,200. This makes quite a field for the Lutheran church.

The JOURNAL Editor made a "lapus" in his last issue, when he stated that only of late have Protestants begun to celebrate Easter. The Lutheran and Episcopal churches, which comprise fully two-thirds of Protestant Christianity, observe the church year and have always celebrated the day, not as Easter, but as the true significance of the paschal day, and in memory of Christ's resurrection. The Editor must have made his "lapus" in company with less enlightened unbelievers—just out of sympathy.

The festival of Sunday evening, April 15, was a success in every way. Although several members of the choir suffered from severe spring colds, the choruses were, nevertheless, rendered in a spirited manner. The Editor must have made his "lapus" in company with less enlightened unbelievers—just out of sympathy.

May is the clerical members of the church. Some twenty odd pastors are expected to be in the city for the celebration of the centennial of the birth of the Rev. John Calvin.

Acting on the advice of Gov. Crane, the Legislature is not likely to make any appropriations this session for park improvements and boulevards, but will wait until next year before continuing further work, so that the cities and towns of the State will know just what their proportionate share of the expense already incurred will be. The Metropolitan Park Commission has petitioned the Court in accordance with the law to assess the cost. This will afford the cities and towns in the park district an opportunity to know just how the matter of expense will stand, and then if they care to insist on additional work being done they will do so with their eyes wide open.—Winchester Star.

If the Star has the rights of it, which is probable, why try to push the Horn Pond boulevard scheme this year? It will be built some time nobody doubts, but the present steps are considered by the opposition as premature. They urge postponement until the city is better able to pay its share towards a boulevard. There is force in their argument.

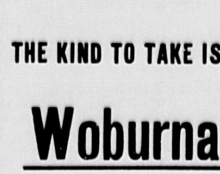

At the present time we are carrying a stock of Fownes' Celebrated Kid Gloves. Thus far they have met the approval of our customers, and we feel confident in recommending them.

A Trick That Won.

A few weeks ago a pretty little Parisian actress was appearing at a theater in Geneva. On the last night of the play a tall, well-dressed man went in his card and asked permission to thank her personally for the pleasure that her performances had given to him. He entreated her at supper and asked permission to see her off at the next morning on the following day.

He told her that he had telegraphed to his brother, who was in Paris and who had influence both with the press and the theatrical managers and that he would meet her on her arrival in Paris. To the astonishment of the actress all this turned out to be true, and she found a magnificent carriage at the place where she was to meet him.

The girl was dumb with astonishment. Her host told her that it was all for the sake of his brother, whom he loved dearly, and he spoke pathetically of the beautiful bouquet that she had purchased for him, and of the flowers culled in the garden of the old homestead. She offered him the bouquet instantly, and he accepted it with a thousand thanks.

Now she has found out why she was treated so well. She had been the means of smuggling watch springs to the value of $10,000 into Paris.

His New Story.

Old H. Drew, who lives in a village not 40 miles away, came into town last week on the sly to buy a birthday gift for his wife. He cast about vigorously and struggled in a valiant way between the crowds, finally being washed ashore in the doorway of a hardware establishment. Despairing of finding his way any farther, he made up his mind to make his purchase right there.

Martha wanted a new stove, anyway. So he allowed himself to be taken in hand by an energetic salesman and had soon purchased for $21 an article that was guaranteed to cook anything and everything all at one time. He had it expressed out to the village and by cunning strategy succeeded in getting it set up in the kitchen the next morning.

Suddenly a blank passed over the old man's face. "Why, what's the matter, Drew?" exclaimed his wife. "Look it here!" he cried. "I've here and bought a darn gas stove for $21, and there ain't no gas for nine miles."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Quick Arrow Shooting.

The Maya Indians have acquired extraordinary dexterity with the bow and arrow, which, with the spear, is their only weapon, though the boys before they are strong enough to draw the bow often use a sling until they can spin a whirling, with which they kill squirrels, and small birds. The boys are about five feet long, made of a thin, tough strip of cotton, plain, well-seasoned. The arrows are usually carried in a tiger skin quiver and can be used with marvelous rapidity, as the following incident will show.

A chief of the Lacandonites of my acquaintance named Canek had been on bad terms with his father-in-law for some time. One morning while hunting in the bush he espied the old man near a tree gathering honey. He was at once fired an arrow at the man, striking him through the chest and while the body was falling placed another arrow in the neck. Fortunately for himself he managed to reach the nearest Spanish settlement before the body of the murdered man's relatives could overtake him.—Chambers' Journal.

The Professor's Foresight.

Professor Frederick von Martens, who holds the chair of international law in the St. Petersburg university and is a frequent representative of the czar in legal councils of moment, is not a Russian citizen, nor even a Russian subject, but a philosopher German. It is a notable circumstance that, and at the Venezuela arbitration conference in Paris, where he read the decision of the commission, he had a pleasant fashion of addressing each delegate in his own language. One of the English jurists wondered how the professor was able to keep up his knowledge of so many modern tongues.

The professor replied: "It is self-defense. You see, in case I lose my chair I wish to be prepared for any offer my foreigner may make."—Saturday Evening Post.

Safety in Battle.

Every soldier believes that the only safe place under fire is the rear of the line, and so many a man has been killed by a stray bullet from behind the stoutest bulwark.

Progress.

Miss Maud Kengon, of 1533 Orange Street, Los Angeles, Cal., writes: "I had been afflicted with my eyes for over a year with a dreadful itching and inflammation that I could not use them for anything. Physicians had given me many different remedies which were like using so much water; they measured my eyes for glasses, which I got and wore for some time, but they did not benefit me in the least. My mother desired me to write to Dr. R. M. Pierce and explain the condition of my eyes. I did so, and after following your advice, and using eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and eight of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I can say my eyes are entirely cured. I would advise any one so afflicted to try these wonderful medicines. My health was never so good as it is now, and I shall never tire of praising Dr. R. M. Pierce's medicines." Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter and secure a specialist's advice free of charge.

THE HUSBAND'S SOLILOQUY.

When we clean house, I'm honest for a week.
When we clean house, my life is cold and bleak.
My wife and I are clean,
And "hairs the house" all day.
Oh, when we clean house!

When we clean house, my faithfulness is mine.
The things are shook and hung upon a line.
I cannot find my clothes,
And where my wife's hair goes,
The future only shows.

When we clean house, I feel that I have sinned.
When we clean house, I feel that I have sinned.
We have our little sinners,
And dine on little sinners,
And dine on little sinners,
When we clean house.

GREATEST OF THREE.

He was first of all her husband's friend and then her own, and this is the story of how she saved him in a time of great danger and peril on the brink of another and greater peril.

Evey Lancaster was one of those women who marry men they averagely love and are faithful wives and devoted mothers so long as passion goes on the country lane of their peaceful lives, passes them by on the other side. She, perhaps, loved her husband more than these women usually do, but then she was made of sterner stuff, and where there is more to conquer there is more to suffer. Small blame to her, since heaven had made her charming. Small blame to Edward Verker, her husband's friend, since he found her so, and he himself as goodly a man as any you would meet on any Sunday's day. Her husband, David Lancaster, was a goodly man, too, and worthy of her and of Edward Verker, his friend.

But there were three of them, and there is an evil number concerning men and women.

It was during the summer of 1893 that Edward Verker and Evey, his friend's wife, began to be more than friends. They were staying with the Lancasters down in Surrey in their pretty little red house on the edge of the pretty little blue river, and David was going up and down to London every day, because it was yet early, and the various vacations and holidays had not been met. So he and they were left a good deal on one another's hands. Satan found mischief, not for those idle hands, but idle eyes, for that summer one's hands remained in one's lap and it was too hot to do anything but to look at one another's hands as they lay blankly into space, and eyes that do a great deal by themselves, take it altogether.

So these two sat in the shady garden under the big cedars and looked at one another for want of something better to do and found the occupation suffice for all their needs.

Evey Lancaster was a good woman—by nature, not by art. I mean she was naturally good and had not become so by trying very hard. She had been well brought up; she read decent books, and therefore, only a few, and she meant every word of her share in the marriage service.

But alas and alas, she was a woman, and a pretty one, and Edward Verker was good looking and a man, though somewhat unusually moral and possessed of a sense of honor. Moreover, they both loved David. But David was away all day, and—mistakenly—John and the devil in a green garden!

I don't know that anything would have come of it if tragedy had not stepped in; Adelphi tragedy, battle, murder and sudden death in one of its most appalling forms in the shape of hydrophobia.

Evey and Edward had been unnecessarily energetic that day. Perhaps they both unconsciously realized that sitting under the trees saying nothing was becoming a little exciting. At any rate Evey went to the greenhouse and brought out a Smith & Wesson of her husband's, and they set up a mark in the meadow outside the garden, and having prudently removed the cows, practiced shooting in the cool of the day. They shot very badly, but they had to look at the target, and that was comparative safety. They got tired of it at last, and she sat down under one of the great oak trees flanking the garden with the revolver in her lap, while the strange host skulking elms came from the somewhat shaky target.

She was near the gate leading to the road, and it was open, for the cows had gone that way to the farmyard, and in June, 1893, gates that it was not an imperative necessity to shut remained open for coolness' sake.

And here the Adelphi melodrama came in, and through the open gate, too, heralded by "shouts outside"—a strange host skulking elms came from the bush of evening distance—hoarse, scared yells, and the tramp of running feet and confused directions apparently issued in many voices.

could be hastily snatched up, but none, alas, with a gun.

Evey Lancaster, revolver in hand, with shells still remaining in a couple of chambers, saw the mad dog enter the meadow and make straight across it out over the sunken grass to where Edward Verker was walking toward the target. She was under the shadows of the hedge, broadside on, as it were, and the dog never noticed her.

Edward Verker turned on his heel at the sound of the noise at the gate, and like Evey, took in the situation at a glance. But he was absolutely unarmed—he had not even a stick, and he was alone in the midst of a wide field with death in its foulest form not 30 yards from him.

Then Evey Lancaster, from where she knelt on the grass under the hedge, took aim and fired. She was his friend, and knew that his life was at stake, and that quickened the presence of mind that dropped the revolver. She was made of British stuff, and that steadied the shaking hand and kept the revolver straight, and though the first bullet went wide the second carried true, and the mad dog, with a hideous howl, dropped disabled with a shattered shoulder not 15 paces from him. Then the crowd closed in and put an end to everything.

Five minutes later Edward Verker and the woman who had saved him, leaving the excited village, still clattered round the horror on the grass, went back into the garden.

It was as much as she could do to walk now that the strain was past, being only a woman after all, and, leaving the excited village, still clattered round the horror on the grass, went back into the garden.

He saw her falter and stop and was only in time to catch her in his arms to prevent her collapsing on the lawn at his feet. The earth and sky might wheel and melt into a blackening mist at will, but a pair of strong arms were round her and her cheek on a protecting shoulder.

David Lancaster came home in the gloaming, half an hour later, with a piece of salmon in a bag, and the fifth globe with all the latest cricket in it.

Evey, up at her window, white and trembling still, watching with half-appealed eyes, saw him pause and look down under the cedar, saw him come in at the gate, saw him join the restless figure and tramp up and down in company and knew the story was being told him, for with a kiss had come recognition and shame, as it came with the knowledge of good and evil into the first garden.

Some time later the two men came back to the house, and Evey's preternaturally sharpened ears heard Edward Verker's foot on the stairs and saw him turn down the passage to come to her. She stood in the middle of the floor in her white gown, her hair slightly ruffled, her face drawn with the stress of emotion which she had undergone, her hands clasped in front of her, and she looked so much—hanging limply by her side. And David opened the door and came in. She could not look at his face, but she understood as he walked across the room to where she stood and took her straight into his arms. There was something somehow, in spite of all, he knew about the kiss and had forgiven her. And the kiss was all she could remember of her past life.

When David Lancaster went up stairs to his wife and took her to his room without asking for a word of explanation on her part, he did the one thing that saved him and her and Edward Verker from shipwreck.

I read a story once in which the concluding sentence was "And so the little thing was a woman saved from the misfortune of a great passion."

Edward Verker, having done all that lay in his power to atone for what had happened, left the house early next morning, and never came back. Evey and her husband shook hands with him at parting.

"They have not met since, except casually in society, and then they meet and greet as friends. Evey had fallen a little way toward the devil. They are now with repentance come revulsion of feeling and with that end of all things that might have been, withered untimely in the budding of passion's poppy flowers.

So he was heroic in that he saved him, and he was noble in that he confessed his kiss to her husband. But somehow it seems to me that the greatest of these three was David Lancaster, who heard and understood and yet, bearing and understanding, forgave—Black and White.

The Bacon Folly.
It should be inevitable that the Bacon folly should proceed to comic antics, by piling up extravagances. By some methods one can prove anything, and accordingly we find writers busy in tracing Bacon's hand in the writings of Greene, De Witt, Shakespeare, Marston, Massinger, Middleton, Webster and others. They are sure that he was the author of Montaigne's essays, which were afterward translated into what we have always supposed to be the French original. Mr. Donnelly believes that Bacon also wrote Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy." Next comes Dr. Orville Owen with a new chapter which proves that Bacon was the son of Queen Elizabeth by Robert Dudley, and that he was the author of the "Faerie Queene" and other poems attributed to Edmund Spenser.

Finally we have Mr. J. E. Roe, who does not mean to be outdone. He asks us what we are to think of the notion that an ignorant tinker like John Bunyan could have written the most perfect allegory in any language. For this thought! Nobody but Bacon could have done it. Of course Bacon had been more than 50 years in his grave when "Pilgrim's Progress" was published as Bunyan's, but your true Baconian is never stopped by trifles. Mr. Roe assumes that Bacon wrote that heavenly book as well as "Robinson Crusoe" and the "Tale of a Tub," which surely begins to make him seem ubiquitous and everlasting. If things go on at this rate, we shall have a Baconian religion, and Bacon will be hailed as a religious sect holding as its first article of faith that Francis Bacon created the heavens and the earth in six days and rested on the seventh day.—John Fiske in Atlantic.

The Busy Bee a Fraud.
The popular impression concerning the bee must be revised. It has long been praised for its industry and diligence, but it has been learned that in these respects the bee is a fraud. As a matter of fact "the little busy bee" works but about three hours a day and is a most thoroughgoing loafer for the rest of the time.—Philadelphia Record.

A Patient in a Swamp.

Wishing to make a study of a portion of the swamp near El Akewa, in Egypt, I set up my camp on the edge of a pool where the ground seemed a little firmer than the rest. I was becoming engrossed in my work. I did not notice that I was slowly sinking until I found that my sketching stool had nearly disappeared and my legs were imbedded in the mud almost up to my chest. With the breaking of the surface crust the black slime gave out most horrible odors, and small stinging flies, liberated from the earth, quickly covered me, crawling up my legs and arms, while the mosquitoes, coming in from the air, began crawling on my face and neck. I was in a desperate predicament. I tried to get out, but the mud was so soft that I sank deeper. I was in a desperate predicament. I tried to get out, but the mud was so soft that I sank deeper. I was in a desperate predicament. I tried to get out, but the mud was so soft that I sank deeper.

Though really quite clear, the water was so alive with mosquito grubs as to appear almost opaque. By thousands every moment the grubs would come to the surface, and I was obliged to keep my face and neck covered with my hands. I was in a desperate predicament. I tried to get out, but the mud was so soft that I sank deeper. I was in a desperate predicament. I tried to get out, but the mud was so soft that I sank deeper.

Food at $10 an Ounce.

"I received a small jar filled with a peculiar brownish paste, which was presented by a young Chinaman who used to have a laundry here, but is now living in San Francisco. A letter which accompanied the gift explained that the paste was a combination of peanut buds and ginger jelly. That sounds like a joke, but it isn't."

"If you will break open the kernel of a peanut, you will find at the base a little cone shaped formation usually surrounded by two microscopic leaves. It is the life germ of the nut, and if planted would develop into a tree. As my friend Wong explained to me, the nuts are first roasted and then these minute growths are carefully extracted. They are so small it takes many thousands of them to fill a teaspoon, but then a sufficient number are collected together and put in a mortar and ground into a fine flour, which is subsequently mixed with the ginger jelly and rubbed down to a smooth paste."

"That sent me was about the consistency of cream cheese, and it had a peculiar aromatic taste that was very pleasant. It is one of the queer seed concoctions that the Chinese like to nibble at between courses, and as it costs $10 an ounce it is literally worth almost its weight in gold. I have eaten a little of the preparation, and I don't think I'm apt to acquire a taste for it."

Willie's Menu.
The New England small boy generally shows his capabilities as a tender age, if he is ever going to have them. I have heard of a certain small Boston boy who got into the habit of teasing his mother for pennies until she said to him: "Now, Willie, I don't like to give you pennies. If you want money, you should go to work and earn it."

The boy remained thoughtful for some time. Then within a few days the mother perceived that Willie had planted a penny in the ground, and a little while later he came running with a question. But one summer day she noticed that some sort of a ball-balloon was going on in the back yard. Looking out, she saw Willie surrounded by a crowd of boys who were yelling with delight. She went down into the yard to see what was going on, and as she passed out she saw stuck up on the back wall of the house this notice, quite neatly "printed" out with a pen-cil:

WILLIE JONES WILL EAT

1 small green worm..... 1 cent
1 large green worm..... 2 cents
1 small blue worm..... 1 cent
1 large blue worm..... 2 cents
1 small fuzzy worm..... 25 cents
1 small green toad..... 25 cents

At that time Willie was about five years old. His mother interrupted it—at any rate, in her own back yard. I don't suppose that she had any assurance that he wasn't still carrying it on somewhere else.—Boston Transcript.

More than Imagination.
A commercial traveler, whose wife is one of those women who borrow trouble indiscriminately, had occasion to make a trip east.

He was very anxious about him and felt certain that he would fall a victim to smallpox, which was reported to be prevalent in the city to which he was going. He begged him to carry a little lump of arsenic in his pocket, and he refused to be made the permanent abode of such a persistent odor.

When he came home from his trip, he said to his wife:
"It is wonderful the power of the imagination. Why, don't you know, I imagined that I smelled arsenic the whole time I was gone."

"It wasn't imagination at all," quietly replied the wily little woman.
"The arsenic was in the corner of your coat before you went away!"—Memphis Scimitar.

Sharks and Men on Good Terms.

"I saw an article about the unusual number and voracity of the sharks along the Florida coast," remarked a gentleman, "that interested me exceedingly. It brought an incident to my recollection that I had almost forgotten. It happened when I was making a trip on a sailing ship many years ago along the coast of India, and you know what a place for sharks the Indian ocean is."

Well, we had occasion to drop anchor on an island near Ceylon and sent a boat to the shore for a supply of fresh water. I accompanied the boat and was really scared out of my wits to witness the incredible number of man-eating sharks that played about the yawl. When we had secured a barrel or two of water, we put off, accompanied by two of the natives, who wished to see the ship. We told them not to come, but they insisted, saying, or indicating by signs, that they would swim back to the ship. The water was smooth, and we were hoisted aboard without difficulty.

"The water was clear, and we could see dozens of huge sharks playing about the ship, and it was not until the natives swam back that we saw the cause of the great commotion that would come upon them in the day of judgment. There will be a time of judgment, and I am sure that the natives will be none other than Jesus Christ our Lord, the risen Christ, God's own appointed judge (Acts xvii, 31). There will be the judgment seat of Christ for His redeemed ones (Rom. xiv, 10; I Cor. v, 10), then the judgment of the living nations (Math. xxv, 31, 32, 40, 41, 42), and after the thousand years the great white throne for the rest of the dead (Rev. xxi, 13, 14), but in each case the Judge will be the same doing v, 22, 23, 24. "And then, Capernaum!" It sounds strange to hear of Tyre and Sidon and Sodom being at the judgment with Chorazin, Bethsaida and Capernaum, and that it shall be more tolerable for the former than for the latter, but the Judge Himself has said it, and He knows, for He can devote the end from the beginning (Isa. xli, 9, 10). The future of Sodom and all other nations is mentioned in Ezek. xvi, 55; Jer. xlviii, 47; xlix, 39. That the judgment will be according to knowledge and privileges of those who are judged our Lord Himself said in Luke xli, 47, 48.

At that time Jesus answered and said, "I thank Thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because Thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes. At that time, when John seemed to be doubting, Jesus said, Father, I thank Thee, for Thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes. ## The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1900.

The City of Lynn will celebrate the semi-centennial of her incorporation next Monday and Tuesday, May 14, 15, in great shape. All sorts of exercises and sports have been planned for the grand time, in which the Governor and other State dignitaries, U. S. Senators and Representatives, and Military Heroes, will participate, and thousands of spectators are expected. Woburn will be on hand "early and often."

A gentleman, who knows whereof he speaks, writes us from Boston as follows concerning one of the Representatives from this District now in the Legislature: "Mr. Roberts is a smart and successful business man; the kind that ought to be sent to the State House; and it is the petty, glory-seeking politician that keep this class of men out."

The annual Fair of the Middlesex East Agricultural Association will be held at Wakefield-Reading on September 26, 27, 28, 29, 1900. Arrangements for it are well advanced.

Their thirteenth canoe club will have the Medford Boat Club as guests on May 30. If the weather conditions are all right, they generally are in Memo. All Day, there will be rich fun on Horn Pond.

Rev. Dr. Scudder, the Pastor, and Dr. John R. Carter will represent First Church at the 95th meeting of the General Association of the Congregational Churches of Massachusetts in Boston on May 15-17.

Mrs. George H. Taylor of Pleasant street returned a few days ago from a trip to Washington, D. C., and other points of interest in the South. She reported an agreeable tour and a very pleasant vernal outing.

For Pig's sake, read Whitcher's ad in the JOURNAL this week! It is a prize ad and if it don't win it won't because it don't deserve to. Whitcher didn't lose a mite of his old hustle up in the Klondike regions.

Mr. Harrison Davis of Winchester, well along in the 80s, has recovered from a protracted illness, and made the JOURNAL a call last Tuesday. He was gratified to be able to tell us that his his pals are coming up finely.

The chief actors in "The Girl I Left Behind Me" are Hevey (Manager), Mrs. Clewley, Mr. Clewley, Linscott, Begley, Misses Lincoln, Greeney, Seely; Dr. Caulfield, McCormack, Watt, Curran. See ad.

Memorial Green on Salem street is being beautified by the Department of Public Property. Properly embellished with flowers and shrubbery and cared for, as it will be, the Green cannot but be a delightful little spot.

The Ladies' Industrial Society of the First Baptist Church held their regular monthly supper last evening, which was enjoyed by a large number of people. After supper there was a fine entertainment given by the children.

The talent to give the concert at First church on Tuesday evening, May 22, will be the Highland Orchestra; L. S. Hart, the Horn soloist; Miss Maude Hortense Littlefield, violin soloist; Mr. K. Foster of Boston, reader.

Lawyer John P. Feeney will argue ex-policeman Keen's case before a Judge of the Supreme Court in a few days. Mr. Keen and his Attorney express the belief that Mayor Davis's action will disapprove of by the Court.

During last week's vacation Principal Owen of the High School improved the opportunity to visit some Boston seats of learning to see how things are done at the Hub. He keeps abreast of the times, and if anything, a little ahead of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Burdett were to sail for Europe from New York last Saturday and for all we have heard to the contrary they did so. They will be gone several months and manage to see as much of continental Europe while away as possible.

The weather wasn't so terrible bad for the great Liberator parade in Boston last Wednesday afternoon. It was muddy, but the rain held up in season for the grand display. A large number of Woburn Liberatorians attended.

Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, in the First Baptist church, Services will be held in the audience room, conducted by Rev. V. A. Cooper, D. D., from the New England Home for Little Wanderers. He will be assisted by children from the Home.

The St. Charles C. T. A. S., the Knights of Columbus, and the National Band Association, gave a grand ball at the Auditorium last Wednesday evening in honor of the close of the games tournament in which the three organizations have recently been engaged.

Census enumerators have been appointed for this city as follows: Ward 1, Francis J. Doherty; John Lynch; Ward 2, Charles R. Rosenquist; George D. Wright; Ward 4, Charles R. Brown; Ward 6, Charles T. Dearborn; Ward 7, William A. Lynch.

We have perfect confidence in the ability and integrity of the City Council, but this feeling does not deter us from asking the question: What is the use of all this delay in the matter of an Inspector of Plumbing and the salary to be paid? No "nigger in the woodpile," is there?

It is a good move in the right direction, that to alter the ordinance which makes the acceptance of a highway, after it is built, nearly prohibitory. It is next to impossible to meet the requirements of the ordinance, and the member who moved for its change deserves a medal.

Last evening Mishawum Club celebrated their 33d anniversary at the Club rooms by a banquet, entertainment, music and oratory. The entertainment was given by Boston talent and was very fine. Mishawum Club was never stronger or more prosperous than at the present time.

Personal investigation fails to substantiate the truth of the story that some express companies in this city have reduced the number of their employees on account of dull times. A leading expressman said last Monday that business in his line is good. The reporters meant well but they didn't know.

These are serious times and trying days for the head of the family. House cleaning is at its height; and bare floors, cold dinners, open windows and fireless stoves, are not conducive to domestic peace and happiness. He is having a hard and difficult time of it; but it is good discipline, deserved perhaps, and may make a better man of him.

The recently installed officers of St. Charles Catholic Total Abstinence Society are: President, John F. Caulfield; Vice-President, John Lynch; Recording Secretary, Dennis F. Murphy; Financial Sec., Michael J. Moagher; Treasurer, Thomas M. Collins; Librarian, Patrick J. Mahoney; Trustees, John F. Caulfield, John Lynch, Francis Naven.

Last week Thursday evening Mr. Arthur W. Whitcher gave his Klondike lecture at Lynn. Although the weather was stormy and unfavorable for the occasion he was greeted by an audience of fair size—larger than could have been expected on such a night. In reporting the lecture the Lynn Item, the leading paper in that city, paid a handsome compliment to Mr. Whitcher and his literary and pictorial production, and further said that the audience was pleased with both. Mr. Whitcher has delivered the lecture in other places and everywhere it has received warm commendations. It is interesting and the pictures are numerous and superb.

The Farewell Reception to Rev. James and Mrs. Fowle, missionaries in Turkey, at First church last Friday evening, was attended by about 250 people and proved to be a very refreshing season. Short addresses were made by Rev. Dr. March, Rev. Mr. Fowle, and Rev. Dr. Scudder, and excellent vocal music was furnished by Mrs. C. M. Strout, Mrs. George A. Blaisdell, Mrs. Marcus H. Cotton, and Mrs. D. A. Richards. Two piano duets were also given by Mrs. Strout and Mrs. H. E. Lord. Rev. and Mrs. Fowle sail tomorrow for Coserea, their field of missionary labor for a long time, from which they have been absent about two years on vacation.

Maud Wood Park, we see, is still engaged heart and soul in the grand work of Female Suffrage, or, in the words of "Gray's Elegy," or Churchill's "Gotham," waving her "sweetness on the desert air." On the organization of a "College Women's Suffrage League" in Boston lately she was elected its President; Prof. Ellen Hayes of Wellesley College, a Vice President; and Alice Palmer Freeman, a high official. Concerning the League The Congregationalist said: "Its leaders are remarkable for beauty of a distinctly feminine type, as well as for intellectual distinction." Certainly, there is a plenty of brains in the League, but isn't it barely possible that they are chasing after a will-o'-the-wisp?

Local reporters of the Boston papers say that the leather manufacturers are offering the striking buffers $9 a week, and that a few of them are at work. Beggs & Cobb have four buffing machines in operation in their factory, and are having another machine made which will oblige the city with hand labor. Mr. Hall, of the Hide & Leather Company, believes the West is the country where leather can best be made, and if he continues to think that way Woburn will be in danger of losing her principal industry altogether. The outlook is far from encouraging for the workmen in this city, and as general business interests are closely identified with the leather industry, the city is in a sorry state. The inspectors of the Dept. are keeping a sharp lookout for the deprecators and woe betide the unfortunate that is brought before a U. S. Court for monkeying with the mails.

We notice on the cover of the books of postal stamps recently issued by the Post Office Department valuable information regarding postage rates and the registry system. It would seem that with all the information obtainable regarding the mail system there is little reason for one to go wrong who wanted to go right on the subject. But we are informed that the Clerks at the Woburn Post Office detect frequent violations of the "Postal Laws and Regulations." When the Government

The Christian Endeavor Society will give a concert in the auditorium of First church on Tuesday evening, May 22. Top notch home and foreign talent will do the singing and playing, and in the vocabulary of the people who are managing it there is no such word as fail. We expect nearly all the town will turn out to enjoy the concert, at least, all lovers of good music will.

There are Woburn men in both the 26th and 43d Regiments now in the Philippines, among them Lieut. Homer B. Grant and Capt. L. E. Hanson, and when news of their fighting the Tagalogs reached here, and the announcement that a large number had been killed, it created a good deal of anxiety on the part of their friends. Later news modified the first reports, and the officers, if any such occurred, were of minor importance. Nevertheless, letters from the boys are anxiously awaited.

The Icecream Parlors at "Crawford's," 412 Main street, are fairly booming with visitors this week. The main reason for it is that Crawford, who is a prince of caterers, has just begun the manufacture of "New Fruit" strawberry icecream, and is serving it to his customers. The reader, and consumer, will understand that by "New Fruit" is meant this season's strawberries, which, of course, are far preferable to the preserved article. Try it and note the difference, and be happy.

The 14th musicale given by Mrs. Lewis's pianoforte pupils in Odd Fellows Hall last Friday evening was attended by about 175 people, to whom it proved a pleasant concert. The scholars who played were: Beatrice Cogan, Francis Partridge, Harri Leathe, Ralph Hyde, Alvah Buckman, Nellie Reynolds, Ruby Graham, Agnes Clough, Helen Delano, Arthur Jones, Stella James, Annie Scalliey, Avis Hill, Quincy Brackett, Clara Langill, Olive Hinckley. More than 30 pieces were finely rendered.

Some curiosity is felt as to what the Lynn and Boston Company will promise to do for the public in the way of service and fare at the Council meeting on May 25 when a hearing on their petition for a franchise will be held. Col. Woodward was heard last Friday evening in behalf of the Lowell & Woburn Company, and it is now hoped that Supt. Foster will see the Colonel and go him considerably better. Both seek to obtain the franchise, and the best offer will probably be accepted by the City Council.

We are happy to believe that Mayor Davis is getting hold of the JOURNAL's end of the public highway business. He has come to the conclusion, so we hear, that good roads are of the first importance to this city. Also respectable sidewalks. Good roads and sidewalks are what we need most, and Mayor Davis looks at it in the same light, we are glad to learn. After these are furnished by the authorities then we, all of us, will go in good and strong for boulevards, parks, and parkways galore. But honest roads first.

At the annual meeting of the Woburn Firemen's Relief Association, held on Wednesday evening May 9, 1900, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Clarence Littlefield; Vice President, Frank E. Tracy; Secretary, George H. Newcomb; Financial Secretary, George H. Brauer; Treasurer, Edward E. Stowers; Auditors, J. C. Larock, J. H. Bates, Frank L. Skinner; Trustees of Burial Lot, John Kenney, J. H. Bates, Amos Bryenton. There were several benefits paid during past year, and the Association now has in its Treasury $2,165.76.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Bartlett of Trinity Court, Boston, gave a reception on Saturday afternoon, May 5, to Miss Madeline Bartlett, to introduce her and her work to their friends. Trinity Hall was transformed into a charming studio with the aid of rugs, draperies, divans, and cut flowers, and was thronged with guests. Miss Bartlett exhibited a number of busts, bas-reliefs, and other pieces of sculpture, including her latest and largest achievement, "The Siren." Among the guests present were Mrs. Alexander Martin, the Misses Peabody, Mrs. Oliver Wadsworth, Mrs. H. M. Rogers, Prof. G. F. Arnold, Miss Spaulding of Newburyport, Mrs. George Brackett Rice, Mr. G. P. Tilton of Newburyport, Mrs. Oliver Wadsworth and Miss Belle Menard.

The May 5th issue of the Kentuckian-Citizen, published at Paris, Kentucky, contained an account of the death of Judge William M. Purnell of that city on May 2, caused by being thrown from a carriage in which he was returning from Court to his suburban residence with his wife. The runaway horse was guided to a stone wall against which the Judge was dashed and his neck broken. He was a cousin of Mrs. Lizzie M. Allen and Misses Mary H. and Agnes M. The Board held a meeting on Friday evening, May 4. In the way of business it was a field day.

An important and practical step has been taken towards providing the city with a new and elegant High School building. A new and elegant High School building, costing $100,000 when the Finance Committee were chosen to act with the School Board to select a site for it. It was business.—The Finance Committee reported against the $100,000 order for highways, also, inexpedient on the order appropriating $2,000 to clean out Horn Pond. This was a rough proceeding for the Board of health.—An order providing for the purchase of horses and carts to water the streets was adopted.—Some pool licenses were granted, but when a petition appeared for a table at North Woburn it made a good deal of talk. Ald. Dickson opposed granting the license, and asked for delay that the citizens of N. W. might be heard. The discussion was warm and somewhat prolonged. Ald. Dickson's motion to postpone went through 11 to 3.—The Finance Committee sent in an order for $30,000 for the highways which was accepted.

A real good thing was the adoption of an order making the Post Office in Woburn a stand for job wagons. That will remove them from the Common.—Circular licenses were filed at $100; junk licenses $20, by the License Committee. There was sharp opposition to $20 for the junk dealers. Ald. Dolan gave the Committee's report, viz.—There was a long and spirited debate over the salary of the Inspector of Plumbing. The Committee had reported it at $600, and Mr. J. S. Cassidy was called Mr. Dolan. Mr. Cassidy is a thoroughly educated theoretical and practical plumber, and is Winchester's Inspector. Why do the Council keep on dilapidating over this matter? Why not fish or cut bait? settle the question one way or the other? It was postponed to next meeting, May 25.

Col. Charles F. Woodward presented, in a fair and gentlemanly manner, the claims of the Lowell & Woburn Street Railway Company for a franchise to build a road from North Woburn to the Wilmington town line. He told what his company had done for the same road, and how it had been run. He offered reasonable fares, would build the road this season, etc. A petition from the Lynn & Boston for a franchise over the same ground was presented and a hearing ordered for May 25. It is hard to say which Company will get the right, but it is safe to bet on the one that offers the best fares.

An order for a loan of $5,000 for sidewalks and edgelines was finally passed. The next meeting of the Board will be held on May 25.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1900.

READING'S CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR.

James Wilson Grimes, Esq., a Boston lawyer of good standing, resident of Reading, where he fills an honorable position in society, has been brought out by the Republicans of that town as a candidate for the State Senate at the next election. They are unanimous in his support.

By common usage the nomination belongs to the Reading end of the District this year and it is not thought that the custom will be violated, or any serious attempt made to ignore it. It is adhered to by Mr. Grimes will undoubtedly be the candidate.

Mr. Grimes made an exceptionally fine record as Representative from this District in the House in 1897, 1898, and 1899, and fairly earned the promotion which it is sincerely hoped and believed he will receive this coming fall. He is as well equipped for it as any man in that Senatorial District.

Looking up his record we find that he was born at Hillsborough, N. H., Nov. 11, 1855; that his father was Col. James F. Grimes, an officer in the Regular Army who served with distinction in the War of the Rebellion, and was Department Commander of the New Hampshire G. A. R. His great-uncle, James Wilson Grimes, was the first Republican Governor of the State of Iowa, and subsequently U. S. Senator. He is a Director in the First National Bank of Reading, and connected with other business interests there; is a Free Mason, Odd Fellow, member of the Loyal Legion, of Sons of Veterans, etc.

Mr. Grimes is a young man of marked ability, a successful lawyer, and of irreproachable character.

A PAIR OF THEM.

Whenever there is anything political lying around that is worth reaching for Lowell may be depended on for a reach. In this respect there is no difference between the Republicans and Democrats. Both parties in the Spindlin City are after the loaves and fishes every time.

Just now the Lowell Republicans have two aspirants in the field for Congressman Knox's shoes. They are Judge Pickman and Butler Ames. The latter is another case of "My Grandfather's Hat." Mr. Ames is a likely young man, people say, and when age has ripened him he will perhaps make good Congressional timber. Judge Pickman is a prominent member of Lowell society, is fairly popular, and will probably secure some delegates to the Congressional convention.

But the straws are all blowing in Mr. Knox's direction at the present time, and it looks as though his nomination is as good as assured.

The death of Hon. Amos F. Breed at his home in Lynn last Tuesday will be felt and sincerely mourned in this city. He had good friends here who appreciated his worth and admired him. The rebuilding and subsequent success of the North Woburn Street Railroad were due almost entirely to his courage and enterprise. He took it when it was nearly worthless and made of it one of the best roads in the vicinity of Boston. Our people liked Mr. Breed. He was an honorable man and an upright one. His death is deeply regretted here. He was President of the Massachusetts Railway Companies, and a prominent broker and financier.

The 10-year raid against the Grumpy Mob, which has cost the State over $1,000,000 and done no good, seems to be on its last legs. Field Director Forbush has resigned, and the G. M. Committee threaten to follow suit because the Legislature won't give them all the money they ask for. The JOURNAL feels that it has not lived in vain.

We are indebted to Congressman Knox of this District for valuable Pub. Docs.

—Mr. Elisha F. Hayward, who has been sick of fever for a fortnight past, has got over the worst of it and is on the mend. Dr. Chalmers has been his physician. He has a good many friends who will be glad to know that he is better.

—Intelligent observers tell us that there are more birds here in our groves this spring than usual, and that their songs seem sweeter, and there are just as many English sparrows as ever, which shows that they and the song birds get on very well together.

—The funeral drapings of the Celtic Association Headquarters, Knights of Columbus Hall, and National Band Association, in respect for the memory of Dennis D. Begley, a member of the organizations, were admirably done. The funeral takes place this morning.

—At the meeting of the New England Woman's Press Association in Boston, Wednesday, on motion of Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, a vote of thanks was given the Ladies of the Rumford Historical Society and Miss Hosmer for their entertainment on Wednesday, May 16th.

—The City Council will give a hearing on the petition of the Lynn & Boston Railroad Co. for a franchise from the North Woburn terminus of their road to the Wilmington line, this evening. The Lowell & Woburn Co. also have a petition before the Council for the same purpose.

—The often expressed desire of many people in Woburn to hear Rev. Henry H. French, D. D., of the First church, Malden, will be gratified next Sunday. By exchange with Mr. Scudder he will preach in the First church in this city at 10.30 a. m. and 7.00 p. m. Everybody welcome.

—The ladies of the Unitarian church are preparing an extensive sale of ladies' and children's neckwear, to be held in connection with their Supper June 7. Those who want serviceable silk and wash ties are asked to keep this sale in mind and postpone buying, as it will be a rare opportunity to purchase.

—As he left the Men's room at the railroad station last Saturday morning Mr. Waterman Brown fell on the stone step and was rendered unconscious. His left side and head were considerably bruised, but the injuries were not serious. It was probable that the fall was the result of a fainting fit.

—We have received from our friend and former townsman, an estimable person, Mr. Charles H. Dudley, Assistant Treasurer of the Hallowell, Maine, Savings Institution, a statement of the condition of that old and staunch concern as it was on May 1, 1900, and we gather from it that it is "sound corn."

—Work of restoration on the old Francis Wyman house in Burlington, built in 1666, and now owned by the Wyman Association, is about to begin. Mr. Charles H. Taylor finished photographs of it Monday for use of the Association. When restored the old house will wear its present appearance in every respect.

—The concert given last Tuesday evening at First church under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society was a fine one. The Highland Orchestra were in great form and acquitted themselves as they never did before. Miss Jennie Treacart sang divinely; Lester S. Hart was a magnificent tenor; and Mr. Kingsbury Foster's readings were simply superb.

The solos by Miss Dora A. Winn and Miss Maud H. Littlefield, with accompanying song, were of the best character and highly appreciated. It is seldom that a Woburn audience are privileged to listen to a concert of such vocal and instrumental excellence. Warm encomiums were lavished on the performers from every quarter of the room, and they were richly deserved.

—Delegates returned from the West a few days ago and reported that the buffers in all the American Hide & Leather Company's factories out there would go out on a strike on May 24, yesterday, unless the managers of the Woburn Branch factories yielded to the demands of the striking buffers before that date. Nothing further has been heard.

—There is a bill before the Legislature which fixes the stage railroad fares between Boston and all towns and cities within 15 miles of it at one cent a mile, and compels the Company to issue 12-ride ticket books at that price. If the bill is enacted the fare from Woburn to Boston will be just 10 cents, or one cent and a half less than it now is on 50-ride books.

—Last Sunday's Boston Post contained an elaborate story of Count Rumford, the house at North Woburn in which he was born, Miss Marian T. Hosmer, his gracious and urbane Superintendent, and occupant, and several fine pictures reproduced from photos by Charles H. Taylor. The story of the Count contained about the usual number of historical errors.

—Huntley & Co.'s presents all the appearance and characteristics of a brand-new store. It has been completely revamped, renovated, overhauled, and altered for the better. The walls and ceilings have been greatly improved, the woodwork repolished, the mode of lighting changed; so that now a finer looking drugstore it would be hard to scare up in any part of the country.

—Captain John P. Crane left here Wednesday to attend the annual meeting of the Society of the Army of the Potomac to be held at Fredericksburg, Va. He will visit Washington, Petersburg, Richmond and other places during an absence of about 10 days. President McKinley, Cabinet Officers, M. C. and many other distinguished people will be present at the annual meeting.

—Lawyer George W. Norris is kind to the poor. It is not often that one of the profession exhibits evidence of the possession of a heart, but Lawyer Norris did the thing last Wednesday evening. A poor waylaid man at the corner of the Court house at that time when Mr. Norris called him to the stand and gave him as fine a box of strawberries as was in the city for his supper. It was a generous thing to do.

—Lawyer John P. Feeney went to Lowell Wednesday and secured the release of James R. Wood, Jr., and John W. Ryan, employees of the Wood Detective Agency in Boston, who went to Lowell to arrest one Cladus of Providence, R. I., on a bail bond, and were arrested for assault and battery on Cladus's complaint. Lawyer Feeney convinced the Court that the proceedings against them were illegal and they were allowed to depart "without day."

—The furniture of the late Loren Perham is being disposed of at private sale at the home of a friend at Fairmount street. Lovers of the antique will be able to secure some valuable pieces, some, more than one hundred years old, in excellent condition. Among other things, are three handsome gilt framed mirrors, one having been brought over in the May Flower by the ancestors of Mrs. Perham and would be an ornament to the historical rooms in Boston, or anywhere else.

—The Albany (Ga.) Daily Herald of May 15 contained a beautiful article by F. F. Putney for $119,230.86 in payment for 2,600 bales of cotton sold by Judge Putney to the Company, which the Editor of the Herald says "is the largest deal in cotton ever transacted in Albany." The cotton was bought by the Georgia Co. for A. Hanney & Co. of Liverpool, England.

spinners' brokers, who ordered the lot shipped to Manchester spinners. F. F. Putney & Co. owned 2,000 bales of it, and the Albany Fertilizer Co. 600 bales. This item will interest many Woburn people who know Judge F. F. Putney, and especially his wife, the late Mrs. Miss Dismick, a sister of Mrs. Fred Brown, and a former resident of this city, and a most estimable lady.

—The buffers at Woburn continue their strike at the currying shops of the American Hide & Leather Co. and Beggs & Cobb. Considerable inconvenience was at first caused, but with what help they have secured they are getting along well, and are turning out all the leather they desire to produce. The result will be that a large number of hands who voluntarily quit work must now seek employment elsewhere. —Shoe and Leather Reporter.

—Remarks on the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette of the presentation of a beautiful Knights Templar's outfit to Rev. John A. Jayne, Assistant of the Holy Land, the Rev. Mr. Jayne was born on Centre st., Lynn, in 1863, and is the son of Captain Clement P. Jayne. The family moved to Woburn when Capt. Jayne's sons were young and they received their preparatory education in the schools of that city. Rev. John A. returned to his flock at Allagheeny, Pa., last Sunday evening.

—Throats of Woburn people attended the funeral of Mrs. Hiller at Wilmington last Wednesday morning. The 8.21 a. m. train carried a load. There were some 70 members of the Burbank Woman's Relief Corps, 84, to which the deceased belonged in her lifetime, who went up to pay due respect to her memory. The assembly at Wilmington was the largest ever seen there. The funeral car was on exhibition in this city on Tuesday and attracted hundreds of people. It was a magnificent affair, over 20 feet high, covered with fine black broadcloth, heavy folds, with rows of large black silk tassels and cords, and looked more fitting for the catafalque of a king than a private person. No funeral in these parts has equaled in splendor that of Mrs. Hiller's last Wednesday since that of her lamented husband a dozen years ago.

Dennis D. Begley.

The subject of this notice, Mr. DENNIS D. BEGLEY, was one of the best known and most popular young men in this community. He had a host of friends, and no enemies. He was kind, hearty, generous, genial, and true.

He was born in Stoneham on Nov. 12, 1859, and came to Woburn with his parents, James and Mary Begley, when two years old, and has made this place his home up to the time of his sudden death at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, May 22, 1900, at his home, No. 12 Spring street, this city, at the end of five days sickness of blood poisoning from the lancing of a boil on his face.

For several years he had been a salesman of B. W. O'Neil of Boston, in which capacity he was rated a smart business man. He belonged to the Celtic Association, the Knights of Columbus, the Hibernians, Elks and the National Band Association and was prominent and favored in social circles. He will be missed from this community and his death deeply regretted.

He left to mourn his untimely death a mother, three brothers, a sister, other relatives, and many friends. The funeral will be held this morning at St. Charles church.

"Beautiful Nova Scotia"

Is the title of a new Guide Book just issued by the Yarmouth S. S. Company, and in the class of tourist literature, it is a most useful and interesting. It describes the many beauties of the coast, the romantic Summerland, which is growing every year more in favor with New Englanders. The booklet contains over sixty high class engravings, and is most interestingly written, being a credit both to the printer, and the transportation company who issue it.

It can be obtained free at any office of the company, or will be mailed from the company's main office, Lewis Wharf, Boston, on receipt of 5 cents postage.

Swedish Lutheran Church Notes.

Last Wednesday evening the newly confirmed member partook of eucharist.

Twenty-two ministerial delegates attended the convention of the Swedish district in the church last week.

Four new members were received during the week, making a total of 25 additions to the church during the last six months.

The sale of Saturday although prepared for and announced through six weeks, was given up, owing to the rain. Yet in nearly every case the articles sold for more than "making price," a reversal of the ordinary procedure.

The program of the May festival was fully carried out, and the festival held in the Lutheran church. Especially noteworthy was the singing of the Swedish folksongs with their plaintive minor strains are altogether new music. They are a rich treat for true musicians.

Thursday, June 14, the good people of Woburn and vicinity will have the good fortune to listen to Prof. C. A. Swensson, Ph. D., Pres. of Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kas., who will then lecture in English in the Lutheran church. He is the great master of the English language and sound money in the middle west. As an orator he is far superior to his Nebraska neighbor.

Sunday evening a young girl was received into church by the sacred rite of baptism. The pastor spoke on the subject in Prov. "Give me thine heart."

During the space of 45 minutes the catechism was given, and the children of the church on the cardinal points of the Christian doctrine, whereafter she vowed to keep the commandments of the Lord. The rest of the class will continue to receive instruction during still another year.

Friday afternoon of this week Mrs. Fredrick Anderson of Washington St., Winchester, was consigned to her final rest at the age of 75 years, 1 month and 20 days, leaving an aged husband, three children, and a large family of grandchildren. Whenever her health permitted she attended church. On the evening of the same day Mrs. Frank Johnson's infant child was christened at Stoneham, receiving the name: Frank Edwin.

24 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Tuner in Woburn for a great many years. Every union, octave and chord so evenly balanced and smoothly tuned as to make the harmony on your piano an exquisite pleasure to listen to. No jagged, rough, harsh, uneven chords so often left by tuners. Recommendations from manufacturers, dealers, teachers, colleges and the musical profession are reasonable.

Memorial Day.

Comrades of the G. A. R. will assemble at their respective Headquarters at 8 o'clock, A. M., May 30th, in full uniform. Line will be formed at 8.30, sharp, on west side of Main street in the forenoon.

The column will move to Pleasant street where it will receive Post 161, and from thence to the Monument on the Common where appropriate exercises will be held. After which the column will move via Main and Salem streets to Woodbrook Cemetery for the usual service and decorating of the graves of fallen comrades.

After the service they will continue on by cars and barges to Calvary Cemetery where service will be repeated. Returning by same conveyance to corner of Salem street and Wade Avenue, it will there reform and march to place of dismissal.

Memorial Services will be held in the hall at Lyceum Hall, commencing at 7.30, in the following order:

Reading of Orders, Adj. Post 33 Singing, "The Banner of the Free." By the High School Chorus.

A Brief Address. Commander Post 33 Reading, Exhortatory Ode for the G. A. R. by National Cemetery.

Master Edward A. Ballard, Woburn High School.

Memorial Hymn. Rev. E. L. House Singing, "The Call to Arms." Chorus Benediction.

The Public are cordially invited to attend.

R. F. LEITCHER, Commander Post 33. E. F. WYER, Commander Post 161.

Headquarters Post No. 161, G. A. R. Comrades: The 20th of May has been recently set apart by both State and National Legislatures as Memorial Day, sacred to the memory of our departed comrades who lie buried in the cemeteries of nearly every city, town and village in our land. May I not earnestly appeal to every comrade of Post 161 to set their seal of disapproval to the growing tendency among many to disregard the solemnity of the day by holding all-day tournaments, base ball games, picnics, and other frivolous amusements which detract from the impressiveness of the services arranged for the day?

Let us recognize the importance of every comrade joining in a reverent spirit in the observance of the day. Do not permit any whim or caprice to deter you from being true to your comrades on this day of grandeur to the Grand Army of the Republic. Remember it is OUR DAY.

Recognized and established by the people, and consecrated to the memory of our fallen comrades now sleeping beneath the low green tent whose curtains never outward swing.

Such as feel, by reason of age and its attendant infirmities, unequal to the exertion of the march will be provided with carriages, and no comrades should show a sentiment of false pride to prevent them from riding when unable to walk.

The Post will assemble at 8 o'clock, A. M.

The Banquet will be served at 1 o'clock, P. M. Let every comrade arrange to return with the Post and remain to the banquet.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1900.

PRETORIA FALLEN.

A dispatch received at the War Office in London at 12 o'clock, noon, June 5, from Lord Roberts, Commander-in-Chief of British forces in the South African War, read as follows: "Pretoria, June 5, 11.40 A. M. We are now in possession of Pretoria. The official entry will be made this afternoon at 2 o'clock." (Pretoria time.) With the fall of the Transvaal capital it would seem as though the end of War must be close at hand.

The last issue of the WOBURN JOURNAL speaks very complimentary of Reading's candidate for the Senate, ex-Rep. James W. Grimes. The Editor shows a good insight in the affairs of the District when he says that "by common usage, the nomination belongs to the Reading end of the District this year and it is not thought that the custom will be violated, or any serious attempt made to ignore it."—Reading Chronicle.

And the Chronicle, which seldom, or never, flies off the handle, shows equally "good insight in the affairs of the District" when it advocates the nomination and election of Mr. Grimes for the State Senate, for he is every way worthy of the Chronicle's support. We notice, with pleasure, that the parties in Woburn who undertook to throw cold water on Mr. Grimes's candidacy had to crawlfish.

A few days ago a Lowell paper printed an elaborate story on the Congressional situation in this District, some of the statements of which were almost anticlimactic. That is to say, they were misty with age. The story was evidently written in the interests of the Lowell aspirants, but neither of them could have derived much comfort from it. It divided its taffy about equally between Representative Ames and Judge Pickman, and bestowed it sparingly on Mr. Knox. Lowell, it is well known, always works for Lowell, but history shows that she sometimes fails to make connections. It may be so in the approaching Congressional contest. But when Lowell and Lawrence look horns spectators can depend on seeing a handsome fight.

The June number of the Boston & Maine Messenger, issued from the Passenger Department of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company, is finely illustrated with ocean and mountain scenes, and is filled with valuable information. In an article entitled "The Mystic Terminal of the Boston and Maine" the Messenger says:

During the year 1899, 1,487,408 tons of freight were handled at the Terminal. [Boston] the principal commodities being distributed as follows: Coal, 910,039 tons; cotton, 77,649 tons; lumber, 103,259 tons; fertilizer, 13,090 tons; salt, 13,250 tons; miscellaneous merchandise, 204,320 tons.

The Republican National convention will open at Philadelphia a week from next Tuesday, June 19. President McKinley will be unanimously re-nominated, but a candidate for the Vice-Presidency is in doubt. It looks like Secretary of the Navy, Hon. John D. Long, for whose nomination a solid New England delegation will work and vote. Many names have been mentioned for the office, but Long's seems to be the strongest, and he locally does not interfere he will most likely receive the nomination.

The clever author of those lively and entertaining paragraphs which appear daily in the Boston Journal under the heading "C. A. P." said last Tuesday, in a final effort to appear bright:

"Col. Butler Ames, who is a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District, is the athlete. I saw him play ball a few days ago and he carried himself like a veteran."

That ought to enable the young Colonel to read his title clear to the nomination.

It is not beyond the bounds of possibility that Hon. Charles D. Adams may be a candidate for Representative to the Legislature this fall. He would make a strong one for votes, and a member of the House who would be a credit to this District.

LOCAL NEWS.

These are significant figures: The Taunton Evening News reports that the arrests for drunkenness in that city in May last, the first month under no license, were 31 as compared with 107 in April, and 92 in May, 1899. And yet there are good men in Woburn who vote for license every year.

—The "National Blue Flame" oil stove is the boss.

—The report that the buffers strike is about over was not true.

—We are indebted to A. S. Wood, Esq., for late Western newspapers.

—Mr. E. C. Colman of Lowell at, advertised for sale a lot of first-rate hay.

—It was agreed on all hands that Wednesday was "hot enough for you."

—Initiation Canoe Club are putting in good practice work for the summer races.

—The Court House and Police Headquarters have been undergoing repairs.

—Locke, tuner, telephone, this page.

—Capt. J. M. Ellis has sold his street watering car and a span of horses to the city.

—Brooks, the druggist, advertises "Stomachache," a specific remedy for head and other aches. Try it.

—After a severe illness Mr. William W. McCabe is again doing business at the old stand on Montvale ave.

—The Boston Branch is having a large trade in choice family groceries. It is a staunch old house and a reliable one.

—Principal Owen of the High School has been somewhat ill this week, but is now better and improving daily.

—Miss Maud Wilson was thrown from her wheel on Fowle street last Friday evening and quite seriously injured.

—All kinds of repairing at Leathe's. Our $2.50 hand welt call shoes for men are equal to any $3 advertised shoes.

—Mr. James T. Smith, Clerk of Lowell Textile School Corporation, visited Mr. Gilman F. Jones a few days ago.

—Pineapple icecream made from the fruit is on tap at "The Crawford" parlors and restaurant. It is fine and no mistake.

—The Woburn Brass Band will give the first concert of the season on the Common next Wednesday evening, June 13.

—Our correspondent "C" has a good paper in this issue of the JOURNAL on military instruction in schools. The question is an important one.

—The striking buffers have been out 10 weeks and no settlement is in sight. There will be none until the "labor managers" are sent adrift.

—Mr. Edgar B. Thompson of Oak Park, Illinois, a brother of Mr. L. Waldo Thompson and Mrs. Shaw, and wife were visiting here last week.

—Charles R. Rosenquist, 36 Green St. Woburn, sells New Sewing Machines for $10.00 and up. Any first class make for $30.00. Call or write.—

—Mr. George Russell, who has investigated the question, says crows are a worse enemy to chickens and field mice than henhawks. It's news to us.

—Major Henry C. Hall visited a sick brother at Norridgewock, Maine, last week. That fine old village on the Kennebec is the Major's former home.

—The Lowell Textile School graduated a class of 20 last Tuesday. Among the speakers at the exercises was Mr. William W. Crosby, Principal of the School.

—In about a month, or immediately after the 4th, a general flight of our rich population to the seaside will set in. Oh, dear! "money makes the mare go."

—Mr. Fred M. Irish of Bartlett, N. H., has been visiting his brother, Mr. Howard F. Irish, and Mrs. Irish here this week. He is an engineer by profession.

—The St. Charles C. T. A. Society will hold a strawberry festival at the Auditorium on Friday evening, June 15. Prizes will be taken to make it a grand affair.

—Reuben, youngest son of Arthur E. Gage, Esq., Clerk of the District Court, returned from the hospital a fortnight ago and is gaining rapidly.

—Mr. John W. Hanson, the Cambridge street farmer and milkman, reports that the late frost dealt considerably with his young vegetation and killed but little.

—Judge Charles D. Adams is settling up the old matters of the Independent ("Jug") Baptist church, being the successor of the late Judge Converse, Trustee.

—President Blodgett of the City Council is an ardent advocate of the new schoolhouse movement, which will insure his election to the Mayoralty next December.

—Would you believe it? In 10 days, or Monday, June 18, the shades will have reached their greatest length this year. On the 25th they will begin to shorten up.

—C. P. Pollard, who was hurt 6 months ago, is able to get round some on crutches and was on the piazza Wednesday morning for the first time. Good for Charlie!

—John Lynch, Clerk of Committees, etc., is one of the U. S. Census takers of this city, and if he doesn't hustle then nobody ever did. His district covers the upper end of Ward 1.

—"Uncle Dan" Sullivan is almost 81 years old, but says if those "peaky legs" of his would come to time he could do just as much and as good railroad work now as ever he could.

—Water Registrar, W. W. Wade, and Mrs. Wade received congratulations on an increase of their family the last day of May. It was a girl baby, and William was liberal with his cigars on June 1.

—Mr. E. F. Hayward, bookkeeper for Mr. J. M. Ellis and Ellis & Buswell, contractors, is recovering from a severe attack of typhoid fever. He will be at his post of duty again before a great while.

—Mr. Charles H. Taylor has recently finished up some fine pictures of Arlington Road residences and landscapes. He is one of the best artists for portraying outdoor scenes in this part of the country.

—It is said that Mr. Edward A. Dow has offered to sell to the city as much of the "Dow Field" near Broad street and Montvale ave. as may be needed for the new schoolhouse site at a very reasonable price.

—The family of Mr. Chauncey B. Conn, who lately resided on Johnson street, will summer at South Lancaster. It is said that, on their reassembling in the fall, they will settle in Somerville. We trust the report is incorrect.

—The Flower Mission connected with the W. C. T. U. will open June 8 in the rear room of First Congregational church, every Friday from 3 to 4.30. All contributions most gratefully received. Per order of Supt.

—Ald. B. H. Nichols was busy last Wednesday gathering information respecting the schoolhouse lot. He is a member of the joint committee on site. He informed us that nothing definite had been concluded on.

—The King's Daughters of Trinity Episcopal church will give a Lawn Party on the grounds of Mrs. Page Eaton, Central Square, Thursday evening, June 21, 1900. Refreshments. Dancing. Admission 25 cents.—2.

—The Winning house on Lexington st., which was left for an Orphan Asylum on the death of Mr. Winning, is being fitted up and will be used this summer for giving a few days vacation to poor and sick children from Boston.

—That $2,000 increase of teachers' salaries, which didn't please the School Board just a little bit. It will be corrected. The Board voted that the salaries should not be changed from last year.

—There have been some lovely evenings this week. How much more beautiful and pleasing than gas or electricity has been the moonlight. There is poetry and romance in the moon's mellow beams.

—Crovo & Crovo brought the first peaches to this market and placed them on sale June 5. They were in the highest degree toothsome. As for strawberries, well, you ought to eat some of C. & C's!

—First church will doubtless be crowded next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock to hear the explorer, Dr. Edgar J. Banks, and to see the relics some of them 6,000 years old, which he will exhibit in illustration. Everybody welcome. A collection will be taken.

—We were glad to meet and shake hands with Henry A. Wyman, Esq., of Boston, last Wednesday. He is a worthy product of the Pine Tree State, with good Puritan blood in his veins, and a Lawyer of honorable standing at the Hub. His father was one of the ablest Lawyers in Maine.

—Every one will want to go to the Salad Supper at the Baptist Church next Thursday evening at 6.30. There will be salads of all kinds, strawberries and other hot weather delicacies. Highland orchestra will furnish music. Apos, home-made candy and ice-cream will be on sale. Tickets, 25c.

—Census taking is going ahead at railroad speed. The enumerators are putting in their best ticks, and their name is Legion. Some time in July Uncle Sam will be told the number of people in his family, and what the most of them are doing for a living. The JOURNAL sets the number at 72,000,000.

—"What is so rare as a day in June?" could hardly be applied to last Sunday. A mixture of weather prevailed. Cold east wind, thunder and lightning, heavy rain in the evening, were its most prominent characteristics. But June is a lovely month generally, even if it does give us now and then a disagreeable day.

—Harry Morse, who was united in marriage to the lady of his choice in New York City last Monday, is visiting, on the bridal tour, his sister, Miss Flossie Morse, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Simonds on Church Avenue. He is well known here and many friends gave him and his young bride a cordial welcome.

—One of the commencement orators selected by Tufts College is Wallace T. Conn of this city, from the Science Course. He is the youngest son of the late George H. Conn, and a brother of Alderman Horace N. Geo. C. of Milwaukee, General Commercial Agent for the Flint & Pere Marquette Railroad Company, and Chauncey B. Conn of Boston. He has the reputation of being a bright young man, and his selection as one of the Tufts College commencement speakers goes to prove it.

—Something over four years ago Dr. Gordon's Malarial Tablets were first advertised in the JOURNAL and from that time to the present this specific for the cure of all complaints having malaria, or vitiated bile, for their origin, has been steadily growing in public favor. Bilious attacks, grip, chills and fever, and ague in its various forms, yield readily to this remedy, and as a preventative against such diseases Dr. Gordon's Tablets have no equal.

—The Woburn Light, Heat & Power Co. have issued circulars notifying the public that on and after July 1 next they will discontinue the existing method of lighting stores and all other classes of business places by contract, and as soon thereafter as practicable meters will be installed in them and bills rendered on the results of the same.

—We acknowledge gratefully the receipt of a ticket of invitation to attend the graduating exercises of the Lowell Textile School, of which our esteemed townsman, Mr. William W. Crosby, is Principal, which took place on Tuesday, June 5, instant. The card was issued by A. G. Cunnock, President, and James T. Smith, Clerk, of the Corporation.

—Last Saturday the joint committee on schoolhouse site took a barge and visited the several localities that have been suggested for the new High School house that is to be built. It is expected that they will soon be able to make a final report, and when that is done plans will be in order. No intimation was dropped by the committee as to a choice of lots, and probably no decision was reached.

—Buffalo Bill, with his immense show, the greatest congress of Rough Riders in the world, will open in Boston on June 18 and continue through the week. The Wild West Show is the largest spectacular review ever attempted with horses and horsemen, and over 100,000 to expect tremendous audiences in every place where it opens for exhibition. There is nothing like it in the known world.

—Our Woburn soldiers in the Philippines are getting on all right, according to last accounts. Their services will not be required a great while longer there. When the Commission, now in Manila, promulgate their plans for instituting a good Republican government in the Islands it is expected that the Tagalogs will surrender and guerrilla warfare cease. Then the boys will come home.

—On the invitation of the big ship's Captain Mr. and Mrs. P. Carlson visited the Saxonia at East Boston last Wednesday and was entertained on board of her. The Saxonia is a monster, being the largest merchandise ship that ever came over from England to Boston. Mr. Fred A. Flint and Mr. Elwyn G. Preston also visited and went over the steamer. They all say she is a magnificent craft. She sails for England tomorrow.

—E. H. Lounsbury, Esq., made a dying trip to Canada, N. H., the other day to spy out the land for his summer outing. Mr. Fred Ruggles, a prince of tavern keepers, is landlord of the hotel in which he was staying. A right look among the Granite Hills, and he and his spouse, a popular landlady, are already there preparing for summer visitors. It is a favorite resort of Mr. Lounsbury's, as well as of the other Woburn pleasure seekers.

—Business in the School Board runs as smooth as clockwork. Last week all of the present teachers, with a single exception, were promptly re-elected, which spoke well for the teachers and equally so for the Board. It is plain to the most casual observer that there is less "yodeling" with school board than formerly, and the result is more harmony and better work. "Politics" finds no place in their deliberations now and no favoritism is practiced.

—Mrs. J. N. Auborne of Biddeford, Maine, visited her niece, Mrs. Henry Martin Eames, in this city, a few days ago and was here over the Sabbath. She is the wife of an old Biddeford merchant, the family being one of the best known and most highly esteemed in that city. Other acquaintances of Mrs. Auborne's here are Mrs. Ellen S. Dyer, who taught school at Biddeford in her younger days, and Mrs. J. P. Cram, both of whom she visited.

—Minister Parker of the Unitarian church said in a sermon the other Sunday that money paid for taxes yields a larger and better return than that laid out for any other purpose, and at the same time no public officials are so abused, generally, and persistently as the Assessors. Every word of which was the living truth. And he might have added that to the transaction of business will be unequaled, twist and lie as in making returns of their taxable property to the Assessors.

—If favorable weather prevails, about 400 members of the Woburn Congregational Sunday School will explore Horn Pond Mountain in pursuit of knowledge concerning flowers, trees, birds, rocks, and Indian relics, tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon, marshalled and guided by Mr. Freethy, Superintendent of the School. Last Saturday week they visited Middlesex Fells for the same purpose, which so sharpened their appetites for natural history and things that they thought they couldn't rest until Horn Pond Mountain had been forced to contribute to their stock of knowledge.

—We remind the readers of the JOURNAL that the lecture in the Lutheran Church, Montvale ave., Thursday, June 14, by Prof. C. Dr. Swenson of Lindsborg, Kas. Dr. Swenson received his degree at the jubilee of the most learned monarch in the world in recognition of his distinguished services. During the brief space of 15 years he has built up a strong college with 30 Professors, 600 students and possessing a property of $150,000 with no indebtedness. As a speaker he is of magnetic presence, and very few men will compare with him as an orator. Don't miss this chance! Thursday, June 14.

—President Eliot of Harvard University has written the inscription set out by Mrs. Charlotte W. Wyman, Secretary of the Wyman Association, last week, a large number of the descendants of Francis Wyman assembled at the old "Wyman House" in Burlington last Wednesday for a reunion, dinner, social intercourse and business. Mr. L. Waldo Thompson and Miss Secretary Wyman were the Masters of Ceremonies, and right well were their duties performed. The 11.10 A. M. train from Boston brought a good sized delegation of men and women, who were met at the railroad station by barges and private carriages to take them, and the Woburn contingent, to the Mecca of their pilgrimage among the ozone laden hills and vales and pine woods of Burlington. The weather was delicious, and everything conspired to render the outing of the Wyman Association a delightful success. The "Wyman House" was built in 1666 by Francis Wyman and occupied by him until 1699, and by subsequent generations up to 1820, when it passed out of the name. It has recently been purchased —The pianoforte pupils of Miss Josephine Laug, gave a successful recital at the residence of Mr. B. P. Eldridge, 69 Minot street, Neponset, Friday evening, June 1, in honor of the 13th birthday of Miss Maude Eldridge, one of the pupils. They were assisted by Mrs. E. C. Webster, reader; Miss Mabel Dutton, soprano; and Miss Laug. A number were present from this city, among whom were Misses Emily Sashorn and Edith Hall whose names appeared on the program. The excellent entertainment afforded much pleasure to the guests and was a success in every way. Refreshments were served at its close.

—Live grass, algae, or other vegetables, while growing in the water, never effect its taste, or are the cause of malarial diseases. It is the decay of vegetable matter that does the mischief. It gets in its work in the fall, when rotting, and its influence on water or health before the period of decay is harmless. Our Board of Health know this, but do not stop to think, probably. We are told that efforts are being made to get the city to appropriate money to clean Horn Pond of algae. Should the request be granted and the grass removed and deposited on the margin of the Pond, as has sometimes been done, a reign of malarial diseases might reasonably be expected. It is advisable to occasionally use a little practical sense in treating these things.

—When but a lad we remember to have read Lewis and Clark's exploration, in 1804-6, of the great Northwest; of their travels through the vast forests, desperate conflicts with the wild Indians, and hairbreadth escapes; their deprivations and sufferings. Lewis and Clark were U. S. Army officers, sent out by the government to explore those unknown and hostile regions, aided by 30 or 40 men, and they were successful. The great Northern Pacific Railroad now runs over nearly the same route that Lewis and Clark pursued to reach the Columbia River, and only a few days ago we were privileged to re-read an abridged story of the expedition of the brave pioneers in 1804, in a beautifully illustrated publication issued by the Railroad Company, by courtesy of Mr. Warren Teel of Davenport, Iowa. It made interesting reading for us.

—"In the name of Wyman." In response to a notification sent out by Mrs. Charlotte W. Wyman, Secretary of the Wyman Association, last week, a large number of the descendants of Francis Wyman assembled at the old "Wyman House" in Burlington last Wednesday for a reunion, dinner, social intercourse and business. Mr. L. Waldo Thompson and Miss Secretary Wyman were the Masters of Ceremonies, and right well were their duties performed. The 11.10 A. There was no more familiar figure in this community than that of JOHN EDWIN RUSSELL, who died at his home at North Woburn of typhoid pneumonia, last Wednesday, June 6, 1900, and now that he is gone he will be missed.

He was born in Woburn on Oct. 20, 1851, his parents being Andrew and Clarissa Russell. On Sept. 19, 1876, he was married to Miss Martha Nichols, who survives to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate husband.

He attended the public schools here and at an early age entered the employ of the North Woburn Street Railway Company, of which he has been a faithful and popular car conductor ever since. He was known and liked by everybody on his line from North Woburn to Medford.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 15, 1900.

The favorable report of the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs on Mayor Davis' application to be allowed to spend $15,000 to improve Arlington Road did not improve its case much. It was referred to another Committee from which it will probably never emerge.

Congress adjourned last Friday in good order. It enacted 1500 out of about ten times that number of bills considered, and competent judges say the work was well done. It was one of the most important sessions of Congress ever held.

Col. Butler Ames is a candidate for Congress because he thinks Lowell ought to have it; Judge Pickman because he wants it; and Mr. Knox because the Republican Party want him. The people will most likely take Mr. Knox.

The Republican National Convention will open at Philadelphia next Tuesday. It looks now as though Hon. John D. Long, Secretary of the Navy, one of the Bay State's most highly honored citizens, would be nominated for Vice-President.

People are asking if it is not about time for the Legislature to adjourn and take a rest from their arduous labors. Some think there are too many cheap men in that body.

A fair and impartial summing up of the condition of things in this Congressional District appeared in the Boston Journal last Monday morning.

Like ours in the Philippines the Boer war seems to be petering out. Lord Roberts is driving all before him.

The members of First church have felt somewhat anxious lately for the safety of Rev. Mr. Roberts, a missionary who they are supporting in China. The "Boxers" are massacring all the Christians they can find, and some fear is felt for Rev. Mr. Roberts.

In a couple of weeks, or so, Mr. A. J. Nowell, the Main street photographer, will start on his usual summer yachting trip along the coast of Maine. He makes Bar Harbor, Mr. Desert, his rendezvous for the season and from thence sails wherever fancy leads him.

Plans for a dwellinghouse which Mr. George A. Simonds is to build on Pleasant street and Arlington Road are about completed and work on it will soon begin. It will be finished this summer. The site is one of the most desirable in the city, and Mr. Simonds proposes to erect on it a first-class residence.

We received a pleasant call from Mr. M. P. Foster, ex-Editor and proprietor of the Wakefield Citizen & Banner, last Wednesday. He is looking around for "fresh fields and pastures new" for the employment of his good business talent and Faber No. 2, and our hope is that he will soon strike a bonanza.

Michael Lowder of Chase street was thrown from his wagon in front of Durward's Market on Monday forenoon and quite seriously shaken up. His wagon, a branney one, was badly broken, a new harness dith, the horse ran away, and the driver hurt. He was taken into Huntley's drugstore and cared for.

The 17th of June comes next Sunday, but Bunker Hill Day is to come on Monday, June 18. Great preparations have been made for the celebration and if the weather is good it will be a treat. It is expected that many Woburn people will, as usual, help swell the great crowd at Chestnut town on that glorious occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Case will make their future home, for some time at least, at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, where Mr. W. L. Murdoch, his brother-in-law, has been connected with the N. W. Leather Co. for some time, and where Mrs. Murdoch will soon join him. Mr. Case will enter the employment of that Company.

Last Wednesday the "Commonwealth" and other Central Stables barges of this city took loads of Water Works hereabouts, including a drive through Middlesex Fells. The company enjoyed a hotel dinner in Stoneham and were pleased with their trip.

John E. Moore, son of Mr. Thomas Moore of the Board of Public Works, will graduate from Georgetown (D. C.) College this month. He will leave the University with honors, being an intelligent and industrious young man. John McCormack, who is a student in the Medical Department of the same College, is visiting his family and friends in this city.

A big crowd of Woburn sports attended a prize fight in Wakefield woods, near the Stoneham line, last Monday night. The smart Wakefield police didn't know a thing about it until it was all over. The principals were a fellow by the name of Henry of Woburn, and another named Carpenter of Wakefield. The latter after 8 rounds was declared the winner. The sharpest kind of questioning failed to elicit any information concerning the fight from our public hangers, although it is probable a large number of them conveyed men to the sanguinary woods. Fitzgerald was especially ignorant of the affair. McLaughlin wasn't any more enlightened concerning it, and Chute swore he never saw a prize fight in all his life.

A North Woburn Street Railway car will hereafter leave Medford at 11:15 p. m. daily until further notice. Supt. Brackett thinks the increase of travel on his road and the convenience of the public demand this new arrangement which will be a great accommodation to many Woburn people coming out from Boston late in the evening. Please bear this statement in mind.

No signs are apparent of a 4th of July celebration here this year, and it is presumed that the day will be allowed to pass by with no public demonstration. But the people will know when it gets here, for the advice of President John Adams to "make all the day as good as the 4th of July" will be adopted in letter and spirit by the boys, and a plenty of it will be furnished by them.

It is surmised that the joint committee on the new school house site are casting more than "sheep's eyes" at the lots on Salem street, within a stone's throw of Main street. At any rate, it is said that the committee have practically decided to recommend one of three offers, a consideration of the other half dozen having been abandoned. A report may be looked for at almost any time now.

Instead of increasing their wages, as asked for, the Boston & Maine Railroad company generously agreed to furnish their trainmen, from Conductors down, with two new uniforms each year, one for summer wear and one for winter, free of cost, and last Monday the men were made happy by the receipt of their summer suits, in which they look fine. These presents mean about $50 a year to each trainman—quite a handsome boost.

Richard Purcell, born at Stoneham, died quite suddenly last Sunday morning, aged 47. He had been employed at the Central Stables many years, but owing to illness had not been at work for about a week. He had a fall at the stables Saturday afternoon, but no serious results were anticipated from it. In the night he suffered considerable pain, and died at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. He boarded at the Central House. He left a daughter living in So. Boston.

The Boston pirates of Friday last had it that the five pirates whose dead bodies Mr. Waterman Brown carried over to Charlestown on an ox-team for burial, were hung on Boston Common June 11, 1835, whereas they were hung on that date in Leverett Street Jail. It is always best to have history as near right as possible, for even then it is generally far from reliable. Horace Walpole, the great English statesman, who died more than 100 years ago, said: "Don't read me history, for I know that can't be true."

Our esteemed friend, Mr. George H. Gilbert, left Sunny-side, Winchester, last Tuesday for Seaside Lodge, Little Blue's Head, Hampton Beach, N. H., where he will spend the summer. For more than half a century Little Blue's Head has been one of the most popular and fashionable seaside resorts in New England, being chiefly patronized by the lion to of society, and is withal a delightful summer retreat. Brother Gilbert took his fine team of blooded beauties with him and intends to enjoy them to the full.

Mrs. Daniel H. Richards left here last Tuesday morning for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Bruce, at Chicago. As a result of pneumonia Mr. Bruce has been for some time a hospital patient in that city, where, it is feared, he will be obliged to remain for some time to come. During the many months of her husband's sickness Mrs. Bruce has boarded in Chicago in order to be near him. For some years he did a large grain buying and shipping business at Marseilles, Illinois, and with his father at Joliet, but of late has not been able to attend to it.

Miss Kennedy having resigned as teacher in the Highland School, Miss Annie C. Wyer has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

Col. W. T. Grammer has resigned the Chairmanship of the Board of Assessors, but not from the Board. Mr. E. Prior succeeds the Colonel.

The Woburn Section of the Socialist Labor Party has arranged to hold a series of open air meetings on the common this summer. The first lecture will be delivered Saturday evening, June 16th, by Michael T. Barry of Haverhill.

A meeting is to be held at 7:30 tomorrow evening, June 16, in the Director's Room of the main building of the Middlesex East Agricultural Association at Wakefield and Reading, for the purpose of perfecting the organization of "A Gentleman's Driving Club" as a part of the Association. All lovers of horses and driving are invited to attend the meeting.

On Tuesday evening, June 5, there was a grand wedding at the residence of Colonel Sam G. Maxwell in Titusville, Penn., when his sister, Miss Frances Hobart Maxwell, a daughter of Mr. John Maxwell of Winchester, was united in holy matrimony to Captain G. Lyons of Warren, Penn. According to the Titusville Herald of June 6 it was a brilliant and very lighted society event, and was attended by a large company of the elite of that city. Music and flowers filled the rooms with their contributions; "and all went merry as a marriage bell," especially at the reception held after the wedding was duly solemnized.

The funeral of John E. Russell, the old and faithful North Woburn Street Railroad conductor, was held at North church last Saturday afternoon. It was largely attended, for he was one of the best known and most popular men on the line. He had served the public and his employers faithfully and well many years. A profusion of beautiful flowers covered and surrounded the casket that contained the remains of an honest man and good citizen. There were many expressions of sorrow among the audience. The pallbearers were selected from the car men of the Company. Supt. Brackett feels the loss of his old conductor keenly.

Town Meadow bids fair to become a rural beauty spot right in the centre of our city at no distant day. Mr. George Buchanan of the Board of Health says there are no insurmountable obstacles in the way of bringing this about. At comparatively small expense and within a short time, he says, that waste place can be converted into one of the most beautiful parks anywhere to be found, and steps have already been taken to effect this object. The conversion of Town Meadow into a park will greatly enhance the fine surroundings of the Public Library, the Trustees of which are manifesting a lively interest in the work. The application of business ideas will bring the beautyspot in good time.

The Lynn & Boston Street Railway Company have secured the franchise for a road from Tewksbury to Wilmington, which will soon be built, and lack only the short piece between North Woburn and Wilmington to give them a continuous line from Tewksbury to Medford, and, with connections with the Lowell Suburban and Boston Elevated, a straight cut from Lowell to Boston. The offers of General Manager Foster of the Lynn & Boston are, we hear, favorably regarded by the Woburn City Council, who have a petition from him for the franchise from the northern terminus of the N. W. road to the Wilmington line under consideration. Should that Company secure it the fare from Wilmington to Woburn will be 5 cents, and probably the same from Woburn to Medford.

Next Monday Col. W. F. Cody and Nate Salisbury will open the great Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show in Boston, an event that is longed for by thousands and thousands of people. One of the principal features of the mammoth exhibition will be a "Congress of the Rough Riders of the World," one of the grandest equestrian spectacles ever witnessed. It has been recorded that "it stirs the blood as no other spectacle could, short of a battle, a shipwreck, or an earthquake," and it arouses the martial and chivalrous spirit to the very climax and exultant abandon of enthusiasm. The bride, the first, the glory and glamour of it all will transport the beholder, fill him with wonder and amazement. Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show is a huge and wonderful one.

Miss Bancroft closed her musical season Tuesday, June 12th, after a most successful winter. During the months of April and May she gave a series of delightful musical afternoons at her studio in Boston which were enjoyed by many well known Boston people. Only one advanced pupil appeared at each musicale, Miss Bancroft playing most of the long and difficult program. It is her intention to give these informal musicales every month during the coming season. Miss Bancroft left for New York Wednesday for an extended trip. The following program was rendered at the last afternoon, Miss Cora C. Cutter assisting.

Last Monday the Boston Herald contained a full and complete description of Maine's "Ice King," a rich and noted cattleman, and an account of the ice business in that State. It was a good piece of reportorial work. It was done by our respected townsman, Mr. Thomas J. Feehey, who we have heard, is one of the Herald's "star" reporters. Tomorrow evening he, with others of the Herald staff, including the City Editor, leave for Philadelphia to report the proceedings of the Republican National convention which opens there on June 19. That finished, Mr. Feehey, with his associates, will go to Kansas City about June 30 to report the Democratic National convention.

A June Wedding.

On Thursday evening, June 7, 1900, at the residence of Mrs. Ella F. Porter, mother of the bride, No. 92 Pleasant street, this city, Mr. Wilfred Brooks Tyler of Wakefield, and Miss Florence Stetson Porter of Woburn, were united in marriage by Rev. Henry C. Parker, pastor of the Unitarian church. The wedding ceremonies were witnessed by relatives of the bride and groom and a large number of intimate friends.

Mrs. Porter's residence was charmingly decorated for the interesting occasion, and everything was bright and beautiful, as weddings always ought to be. The bride was elegantly dressed in organdie muslin trimmed with lace insertion, gay ribbons, and fine lace, and carried in her hand a bunch of lilies of the valley. Miss Minnette Dow was the pianist. Mr. Edwin K. Porter was best man, and Miss Grace C. Nichols, bridesmaid.

A delightful reception followed the bridal ceremonies, at which were present friends from Woburn, Wakefield, Malden, Medford, Somerville, Salem, Boston, Lynn, Waltham, etc. Crawford, the noted Woburn Caterer, served a superb wedding supper. The bride received a large number of beautiful presents, and warm congratulations from everybody.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler will make their home at Malden.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Frye, Jr., observed the tenth anniversary of their marriage at their home, 694 Main street, Monday evening last. Guests to the number of one hundred and twenty-five were present and were presented to the host and hostess by Messrs. Charles French and Wilbur Wilson, and Misses Winnie Page and Carrie Corbin. Miss Edith M. Haines presided over the fruit lemonade bowl, and Mrs. Daniel Frye and Miss Emma Vining, assisted by a corps of prettily gownned young ladies, served ice cream and other dainties. Mr. and Mrs. Frye were the recipients of many expressions of good will in the shape of china, silver, pictures, bric-a-brac and tinware, among them being a beautiful salad set from several members of the Methodist church, and a picture from the Every Day Circle of King's Daughters. The house was prettily decorated with ferns, daisies and potted plants.

Among the guests from out of town were: Mrs. Hiram Vining, Miss Emma Vining, Mrs. F. Haines, Miss Edith M. Haines, Mrs. J. W. Simmons, Miss A. Etta Henderson, all of Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. Forest Douglas of Norwood; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Henderson and Master Howard of Dorchester; Miss Minnie Law of Everett; at 9:30 a telegram of congratulation arrived from Gen. L. Wilson, H. Fielding and F. Fielding, of Boise-Ern, Montana. All present united in wishing that Mr. and Mrs. Frye might live to celebrate their golden wedding in as pleasant a manner. Crawford furnished the ices.

TAKE THE TAMMANY ICE TRUST and the foreign stranger "combine" together, the poor Democracy begins to realize the bitter truth of a certain maxim about glass houses and throwing stones.

WADE—COPELAND.

Miss Agnes W. Copeland, niece of Mr. Alfred Perkins of Reading, and Mr. Oliver M. Wade, Jr., of Woburn, were married last Tuesday evening, June 12, in the Congregational Church in Reading, which was elaborately decorated with palms, ferns and daisies. About 350 guests were present. The Rev. F. S. Hunnewell officiated.

The bride was dressed in white satin trimmed with chiffon and rare old lace. She was attended by her maid of honor, Miss Marion Copeland, a sister, six bridesmaids, Miss Lena C. Hamblett, Miss Lulu M. Carlton, Miss Annie N. Turner, Miss Mira S. Bosworth, Miss Mabel H. Robinson and Miss Josie Richardson, and a little flower girl, Zella Grainger. Mr. Frank H. Sawyer was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride.

Children's Day.

The June Sunday annually devoted to the children of the Sunday Schools, and commonly called "Children's Day," was duly observed at several of the Woburn churches last Sabbath. At the First Baptist Church the following young folks were seen and heard:

Earl T. West, Pauline Douglas, Elliott DeLoria, Annie Arnold, Paul Keith, Helen Pinkham, John Chase, Elsie Ellis, Waldo Northrup, Dora Straub, Bertine Winchester, Frank Page, Esther Stowers, Sarah Skinner, Gertrude Alexander, Mildred Ayer, Mary Arnold, Marion Lord, Dottie Beason, Annie Gates, Rita Straub, Lillian Barrett. The Rev. Dr. Craue delivered an address.

At the Methodist Episcopal Church there were interesting services, and the following names appeared in the programme:

Children's services were also held at Mountvale Chapel in which the following took part:

Blanche Nason, Maria Kimball, Henry Neergard, Francis Glover, Lydia Nason, Mary Sorenson, Ethel Pyson, Aimee Foster, Doris Carwell, Annie Black, Grace McDowell, Nellie Hanson.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words were written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which ended on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Maker, and was told I could not stay with my friends on earth. I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took it in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial of this medicine will save you. Parker's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Children's Department in the Public

Anyone who is at all interested in the work of Public Libraries, and has given much attention to them, has been impressed by the fact that the library activity that has developed in the last few years, namely: Library work for young people, has been the most important development in the library movement. It has been the most important development in the library movement. It has been the most important development in the library movement.

Our library has for some time felt the need of such a room, and the building has afforded material for much thought and discussion, it being difficult to determine on a place, where the library should be located. The question was settled by the Board of the library, and the building was erected. The library has been a great success. It has been a great success. It has been a great success.

Always in the Van.

The advance movement in modern newspaper work, namely, the use of the ever-increasing value of the Boston Herald as a newspaper. Ever on the alert for the latest news, it has organized the best system of news gathering known, and in consequence thereof is always first in the publication of the news. It is the first in the publication of the news. It is the first in the publication of the news.

Cures Old Sores, Fever Bore, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, all Skin Eruptions. Best Pile cure on earth. Only 25c a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by Gordon Parker, Druggist.

MISSING.

George Arthur Dent, four years and six months old, disappeared from his home in Lowell, Mass., on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 28, 1900, and no trace nor tidings of him have since been obtained. The boy answers to the name of "Artie." He was about 38 inches tall and weighed 42 pounds. Had plump form, round face, light, straight hair, and dark brown eyes. Perfectly formed body, without any mark or physical defect. Wore 6 1/8 hat and 7 1/2 shoe. Talks very plain, much interested in horses, and can drive one very well. He is not particularly shy of strangers.

"Artie" was dressed in brown hose, white, black shoes and black stockings, white, white undershirt with grey undershirt over it, and blue cap.

Mr. and Mrs. Dent offer a reward of $500 for the boy alive, or $100 for his body.

The above picture of "Artie" was made two weeks before his disappearance.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Oliva, of Barcelona, Spain, sends his wife at Akron, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest Blood and Nerve Remedy, all pain soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed only 50c. Sold by Gordon Parker, Druggist.

Scandinavian Evangelical Free Church.

"Children's Day" was observed last Sunday forenoon with special service for old and young. The children recited and sang admirably, and six infants were baptized. The platform was decorated with plants and cut flowers and a large audience was present. The Sunday School numbers one hundred children and it is proposed to give them an outing the 4th of July.

At the last business meeting of the church seven persons applied for a membership. Two members will visit the fatherland this summer. One Miss A. Young left last week, and the other, Mr. Bernard Peterson, will leave next week. He will also on his trip visit the exposition in Paris. A special midsummer service is arranged by the Young People's Society to be held Sunday, the 24th, in the evening, to which all the Scandinavian Young People are cordially invited.

School Meeting.

A meeting of the Board was held last Tuesday evening.

A petition was received from Harriet R. Rooney to be a teacher in the Rumford school. Mary McPartland, Amelia M. Sheehan, Margaret E. Hoar and Nellie J. Cummings applied for positions as teachers. Increase of salaries was requested by James H. Doherty and Thomas Sheehan, janitors. The resignation of Margaret A. O'Brien, a teacher in the Johnson school, was received, and no disposition was made of the case of Miss Nash. R. T. Spencer was given leave to withdraw.

Literary Notices.

With the July issue the publishers propose to change the title of the SELF CULTURE MAGAZINE to the MODERN CULTURE MAGAZINE. It is done with reluctance, since in making the alteration an old and familiar designation is parted with, under which the Magazine has not only prospered, but has had the most agreeable relations with its myriad friendly, courteous, and most appreciative readers. Why, then, is the change made? Partly from a misconception, in many sections of the United States where the periodical is making new friends, of the aims and character of the Magazine, some mistaking it for one devoted to physical culture; and partly from the broadening of its scope, which in its inception was designed to address those chiefly who sought to educate themselves by self-effort. Having, with the passing successful years, developed and expanded from this early and tentative stage, the moment has now been reached propitious for making the change in the title. As heretofore, the Magazine will be the organ of no party or creed; the aim of its owners being to make a Magazine for every well-ordered home, while seeking to promote independence in the discussion of public affairs, interest in literary questions, and an intelligent concern for all that makes for the uplifting of the people and for the material and social advancement of the Nation. Subscription price, only $1.00 per year; four months' trial, 25 cents. The Werner Company, Publishers, Akron, Ohio.

The contents of the June number of the NATIONAL MAGAZINE, Joe Mitchell Chapelle, Editor and Publisher, Boston, furnish a rich literary and pictorial feast. They embrace a great variety of topics, all fresh, timely and entertaining. Twelve monthly installments per annum of equally valuable and interesting mental food are given by the NATIONAL for the paltry sum of $1. The meaning of which is, that that handsome magazine should find its way into every family in the country. There are in the June number, in prose and poetry, 28 pages, half of which are beautifully illustrated by artists of skill, the whole making a gallery pleasing to the eye and worthy of preservation. One of the best articles is Affairs at Washington by Joe Mitchell Chapelle, with portraits of men and women of the hour. Editor Chapelle is a keen observer and a ready writer, and enjoying Washington "open door" privileges, he, in rapid and entertaining style, tells the public about men and women, and things at the National Capital that they love to read. There is a double frontpiece—President and Mrs. McKinley—admirably executed, a fitting introduction to the excellent number, and appropriate accompaniment to Mr. Chapelle's paper. The list of writers and artists who appear by pen and pencil in the NATIONAL includes men and women prominent in literary circles, and is quite apparent that both classes have given the best they had in store for the entertainment and instruction of the people during Coleridge's "leisure month of June." The W. W. Putter Co., 91 Bedford street, Boston.

Hearst's Adame is the striking title of the novelette in the June number of THE SMOKE SET. The story depicts the re-establishment in the social world of a woman friend who has been sensationally divorced and remarried. It reveals perhaps more of the workings of the wheels within which in New York society than any novel ever written. Not the least element of its interest is the struggle of the society leader herself against the love of a prince of millionaires. From the first sentence to the last the story is strong and fascinating, and has a light touch that makes it ideal Summer reading. Other features of this number are Bayard Bendis, by Edgar Fawcett, a revelation of the true character of one of the richest and most inexpressible men in the world; The Soprano on the Links, a droll story of a gallant English Ambassador in Washington; The Noose Matrimonial, a brilliant story by Edgar Saltus; An Eynelash Finish, an exciting racing story by Martha McCulloch-Williams; and The Saving Revelation, an artistic tale by Mrs. Reginald de Koven. In addition there are remarkable poems by Caroline K. Duer, Bliss Carmon, Ed. Wheeler Wilcox, Charles G. D. Roberts, Madison Cawein and Clinton Scollard.

Speaking of South Africa, a writer in Collier's Weekly says: "The natives know nothing of civilized ways until the thought of them was suggested by the white man." Of course not; how could they? Still, what the writer means to say, viz, that the whites introduced much vice, notably flery drinking, among the South African natives, is all too true. Our North American Indian could a tale unfold, also.

WINCHESTER.

There are bicycle thieves here, as well as elsewhere.

The State Commissioners of Fish and Game have recently let loose in Mystic Lakes 400,000 perch fry.

Members of the New England Water Works Association visited this town Wednesday to inspect the reservoir and incidentally to drive through the park system.

The Firemen's Relief Association has elected the following officers: President, B. T. Morgan; Vice-President, J. J. Fitzgerald; Secretary, James McLaughlin; Treasurer, Frank S. Pratt.

At a smoker under the auspices of the local Council, Knights of Columbus, last Tuesday evening, addresses were made by the Grand Knight Stephen E. Thompson and Deputy Grand Knight Murphy of Stoneham.

Hon. A. B. Coffin has been elected member of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, and will make a good one. His elegant house and grounds in the northern part of the town demonstrate his fine taste and judgment in horticulture and pomology, and not only that, but he deserves all the pleasure that such beautiful surroundings are able to impart.

Burlington.

Children's Sunday was duly observed and passed off in the best manner.

Owing to the rain the "Mother Goose Party" on June 7 did not pan out very big. The attendance was small.

Considerable business was transacted at the Church Meeting last week. A vote of thanks was quite properly extended to the faithful Treasurer, but another worthy gentleman, who had as faithfully served on the Church Committee 20 years, was silently passed by. Perhaps it was a Christian spirit.

The Red Snapper. The red snapper is a fish that is particularly desired by timid people who fear the bones. There are no small bones in a red snapper. The flesh is coarse grained, but of excellent flavor, especially when prepared by baking. They weigh from 40 pounds down to 6 or 8 pounds each. They feed upon smaller fishes and in doing so follow the shallow places in the gulf known as banks. The most successful catches are made by the fisherman who carries with him a small net or seine, and he lies at almost any object and has been known to snap at a piece of red flannel with such avidity that he has been known to swallow it.

They are thus easily caught if found in schools, but it is not infrequent that vessels return with but small catches as a result of rough weather or the migrations of the fish. Then, again, some of the output of the fish is lost, for the fisherman ever having been brought to Galveston by one vessel being about 43,000 pounds. The banks from which the Galveston supply is secured extend from about 30 miles offshore to Camanche, where a great deal of the fish is lost. Styria's Iron City. One of the busiest places in the Austro-Hungarian empire is a little town in Styria—Eisenvez. Eisenvez is, as the name itself says (Eisenvez means iron ore), immensely rich in iron ore, and its mountains have been worked for centuries. The deposits are said to be inexhaustible. It is situated on a good authority that iron ore has been first worked there in the year 712. A stone column erected in 1782 gives data on the iron working of the ore. The Styrian iron is world renowned and has been used in all the great works of the world. Styria steel is largely used in Austria-Hungary, Germany, France, Belgium and England for the manufacture of swords, cutlery and fine instruments and tools. The output of the iron ore of Eisenvez amounts to over 5,000,000 quintals, or 500,000 tons, a year.

His Position. A meeting of a negro "literary society" was in progress, and the business part of the programme was under consideration.

Some one had proposed that the regular time of meeting be changed from Monday to Wednesday night, and the proposition provoked much discussion.

Finally the president of the society was appealed to for his opinion, and he said with much gravity:

"Well, membahs ob de society, pusionally, now, pusionally, I don't care 'bout de day de society meets, but fo' myself, I prefer Monday."—Youth's Companion.

Girlish Amusements. Gay-accepted Mr. Roxley last night.

"Good gracious! Weren't you nervous about it?"

"No. Why?"

"Oh, I would have been! I should think the suspense would be awful while you were waiting for his answer!"—Philadelphia Press.

Negro Eloquence. Negroes sometimes express themselves as felicitous as do the Irish. Here is a case copied from a Texas paper. Some time ago one of Texas' widely known statesmen, who is now dead, was passing along a street in Dallas, when an old colored man who had been belated to him, approached and took off his hat and passed a hand over his white wool as he asked:

"Marster, gin de old man 50 cents."

"Dan, you are a robber."

"How?" asked the astonished darky, opening his eyes around which round spectacles had walked.

"Didn't you see me put my hand in my pocket?"

"Well, you old rascal, you rob me of the pleasure of giving you money without being asked."

The old man received a dollar. Bowing almost to the ground, while tears came out and coursed through the aged prints around his eyes, he replied:

"I thank you, wid mah a heart as you hab and wid Abraham and Isaac and de Lord on your side, I don't see what can keep you out of heaven."

Fought the Telegraph Poles. To creatures incapable of understanding their use the first telegraph poles were naturally misleading. When these useful articles were introduced into Norway, they had a disquieting effect on the bears.

The bears heard the moaning of the wind in the wires and proceeded to put two and two together. Such a buzzing as this had been heard before. It was associated in the minds of the bears with a sweet morsel. The poles must be gigantic elves. So the bears set to work to root the poles out of the ground.

The woodpeckers also listened to the humming and concluded that innumerable insects were concealed in those tall poles. Therefore they also went to work to find the treasure, boring holes to extract the insects.

In time birds and animals became wiser, and the telegraph poles and wires are used by more than one bird as safe places for their nests. There is a small bird in Natal which used to build its cradle shaped nest in the branches of trees, but as soon as the telegraph wires were set up, it changed the location of its housekeeping and built on the wires, so that snakes could not molest its treasures.

The new position was found so secure that the bird added a second door to the nest which, by the way, possessed only a small opening on the side farthest from the overhanging branch.

Four Hundred Pounds of Gold. "A gentleman connected with mines on the Queneville river, British Columbia, 'is about 400 pounds of gold, which is made into one brick and carried off by stage to Ashcroft, on the coast, and thence by mail to Vancouver. It may not occur to you that this little

FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1900.

MR. WOOD'S CAMPAIGN.

That Mr. Alva S. Wood will have a solid Woburn delegation in the next Senatorial convention and receive the nomination is certain. In every Ward in this city his candidacy is heartily endorsed, except by a small knot of persons who are working to defeat him, not for personal reasons, but because of their hostility towards some of his active supporters. Denials to the contrary, it is well known that such a combination exists and that it is stealthily laboring to beat Mr. Wood by supporting a Stoneham man who says he does not crave the honor.

It may not have occurred to these people that in opposing Mr. Wood they array themselves against the best interests of their own city, for it is to be him or no Woburn candidate. Woburn's right to the Senatorial nomination is conceded by the other towns and cities in the District, with the proviso that she has a candidate in the convention. Should Mr. Wood fail to secure a delegation from his own town then Woburn is out of the race, has been deprived of her rights, and she can thank the small combination referred to for it. Do they want to assume so grave a responsibility?

We ask honest, intelligent Republicans what they think of persons who are thus arrayed against them, who antagonize their Party, and are working to injure our city, through the defeat of Mr. Wood?

That these people will fail in their efforts to defeat the Republican candidate in this city and give the city itself a blow is morally certain. Mr. Wood will have the Woburn delegation and receive the nomination, unless all signs fail.

BUNKER HILL DAY.

The celebration at Charlestown last Monday was one of the most successful that has ever been held there in memory of the Battle of Bunker Hill, June 17, 1775. The weather was fine, great crowds of people filled the streets, the spirit of patriotism was pitched on a high key, and elaborate programmes for morning, afternoon and evening were splendidly carried out.

Woburn, which was settled by Charlestown people and named Charlestown Village; which had a Company of Yeomen early in the conflict at Lexington and Concord April 19, 1775, some of whom were slain by the British redcoats; which contributed brave soldiers to the Revolutionary War; and whose sons and daughters have always proved loyal to the Flag—Woburn was on hand at Charlestown last Monday to contribute to the enthusiasm of the anniversary of the great battle fought on Breed's Hill in that town 125 years ago.

In honor of the day business was generally suspended in this city. Some stores and shops were open in the forenoon, but they were all closed at 12 o'clock, noon, and steam cars and electric swarmed with people headed for Charlestown. Our streets were deserted, and a Sunday air prevailed. At sunrise, noon, and sunset bells were rung for half an hour, and the Stars and Stripes were seen everywhere floating in the breeze. It was a lovely day. There were a few picnics in neighboring groves, and some social gatherings; but the bulk of our people went to Charlestown and had a rousing good time.

MCKINLEY AND ROOSEVELT.

This is the Republican ticket. It is the strongest one that could have been nominated. It will win.

Intelligence reaches this office that Essex county will send a solid Knox delegation to the next Congressional convention which, with others that are known to favor him, should give him the nomination hands down. The 52 delegates from Lowell will probably be divided between Col. Ames and Judge Pickman, the former securing the lion's share; but neither of them has a mortgage on the Middlesex towns outside of that city, and neither can be nominated without material support from them. With Essex as a unit for him, and the favor with which he is regarded by Republicans in every part of the District on account of his excellent work in Congress, one cannot well see how Mr. Knox's nomination can be prevented.

Treasury receipts for eleven months of the current fiscal year amounted to $517,553,116 against $469,089,830 in the corresponding months of the previous year, an increase of $47,500,000. There has been a decrease of nearly $100,000,000 since July 1, 1899, in war expenditures as compared with the corresponding 1898 period.

There was a decrease of $2,193,274 in the public debt during May, due to the redemption of bonds. The amount of bonds so far exchanged at the Treasury for the new 2 per cent bonds of 1900, is $286,365,850. The total circulation of national bank notes, June 1st, was $301,488,889, an increase this year of $58,424,335.

Democrats in the House of Representatives refused to join with the Republicans in passing the joint resolution to amend the Constitution of the United States so as to enable Congress to legislate against trusts. Only five Democrats voted with the Republicans.

Exports from the United States to Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii, the Philippine and Samoan Islands will reach $45,000,000 in the fiscal year ending with this month, being three times larger than in 1896. This is good expansion.

The protective United States furnished last year, 39.25 per cent of all the steel produced in the world and 34.56 per cent of all the pig-iron. Free trade Great Britain produced only 18.44 per cent of the steel and 23.61 per cent of the pig-iron.

The stalwart Republicans of that District are talking strongly of nominating Mr. Edward N. Eames of Wilmington for Representative to the General Court this fall, and if it is done they will make no mistake. Mr. Eames is a young man of sterling worth from all points of view; successful in business; square as a brick; and popular. He is also a staunch Republican.

Exports of coal in the 1899 fiscal year were 5,752,150 tons as against 4,503,405 tons in 1898. This year we have exported 5,267,678 tons in the nine months ending with March 31st.

—Mr. George E. Fowle, member of the Board of Public Works and Commissioner of Public Buildings, says lumber and hardware are still too dear to encourage much building, and he does not look for the erection of many houses here this season.

—We are indebted to Mr. Sparrow Horton for a copy of the June number of "Hollander," a pro-Boer monthly published in Holland, translated into English by L. Simons. It is chockful of good things, serious and comic, and readable from cover to cover.

—Last Monday Municipal Building wore the appearance of some banquet hall deserted. Brokers Hill, golf links, tennis courts, and baseball grounds were more than the inmates could resist, and so they left the old building alone in its glory and seclusion.

—Our thanks are due to Mr. John E. Moore for an elegantly executed invitation to attend the 33rd annual Commencement of Georgetown (D. C.) College which was held yesterday. He was one of the honor graduates and is one of Woburn's smartest young men.

—Mrs. Harriet E. Hubbard and her son, Mr. Walter L. Dodge, sailed yesterday for Europe. They will visit the Paris Fair, and also make the "grand tour," that is, take in the capitals of other countries and enjoy the good things therein to be found.

—Supt. Emerson is doing a good deal of hard work these closing days of the schools. He has no easy task on his hands to bring things to a satisfactory end, but he is good for it. And then again, it wouldn't be strange if he were just a little anxious about his potato crop at North Conway.

—We got a note from our good friend, Mr. George H. Gilbert, a day or two ago in which he says it is cool at Little Bear's Head, on New Hampshire's shining shores, whereas he is contentedly and happily spending the summer. No one of our acquaintance deserves ease and comfort more than he does.

—Francis P. Curran, Esq., Woburn's City Solicitor, will leave here next Wednesday, June 27, for New York, from whence he sails for Europe on June 28. He expects to spend nearly all summer at the Paris Fair and in traveling with his family in European countries. He will return in season for the municipal campaign and do yeoman's service for the reelection of Mayor Davis.

—Mrs. Helen C. Hansen will pass the summer at her old home in Uxbridge.

—Mrs. E. Aline Dexter of Philadelphia was guest of Mrs. Robert Phinney recently.

—Mrs. Hamlet of Milford, New Hampshire, has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Marshall Richardson of Bennett Street.

—The employees of the Russell Counter Co., and all back in the Beacon st. factory and everything is as lovely and chummy as can be.

—Miss Homer and Miss Menard attended the Press Club outing given by Mrs. Annie Murray, one of the Trustees of the boys school of Rainford Island at that place on Wednesday.

—At the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs held at Weymouth last Friday Mrs. Christina M. Murdock, wife of Alderman John K. Murdock, was chosen a member of the Nominating Committee for 1901.

—In our story of the Tyler-Porter wedding last week we inadvertently omitted to mention the fact that Mr. Harry F. Parker of Church ave. was one of the ushers on that interesting occasion. Harry ought to be seriously thinking of a promotion from usher to groom.

—The Winning Home for orphan and destitute children, located just off Lexington street in this city, given for that philanthropic object by its owner, the late William H. Winning, farmer, will open on July 1. A notice of it from the Boston Herald is printed in another column of this paper.

—We can honestly recommend the jewelry establishment of Hanson & Co. as one of the best in Middlesex county where to buy watches, clocks, jewelry, silverware, etc. or for the repair of goods of such nature. Varney keeps as steady at it as an 8-day clock and gets the cream of the business.

—It is currently reported that Capt. John P. Crane is becoming a golf fiend. Probably his case is not as bad as that, but it is doubtless true that he is a dear lover of the game and is skillful in handling the sticks. By the way, it is rumored that the Captain will spend the present summer in pleasure traveling.

—Mr. O. Gillett was very much pleased with the success of his auction sale of goods at his jewelry store recently. He considers Mr. Edward J. Gregory one of the best auctioneers in the country, and would send a good many miles for him should he require the services of one of the profession again. The sale, by vendue, of goods carried by jewelers has been Mr. Gregory's principal business for years, and he is still successfully engaged in it.

—Hard sledding in real estate business is a complaint felt elsewhere besides Woburn. In fact, it is quite generally prevalent in this section of country. Boston suffers with it.

—Four days ago a man who lives there told the Journal that he knows of fine estates in Dorchester that had recently been offered for sale at one-half their assessed value and no buyers could be found. This state of things is general in Dorchester and other divisions of Boston. So also, in the suburbs.

—Mr. John Maxwell, the veteran leather maker of Winchester, long a resident business man of Woburn, and still claimed as, at least, a quasi citizen of our town, returned last week from the pleasantest kind of a visit to Titusville, Pa., and regions thereabouts.

—He and Mrs. Maxwell went on to attend the marriage ceremonies of their youngest daughter, Fanny, at the residence of their son, Col. Samuel G. Maxwell, in Titusville, and were gone about a fortnight. The trip was highly enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell, as was also the wedding, which took place on June 5.

—The booming of Charlestown cannon was distinctly heard here last Monday at sunset. Which reminds us of a story: On an afternoon of June 17 a dozen or more years ago, we met Mr. Edw. Fowle, a venerable man, who told us that he had spent the forenoon of that day hoeing corn on the identical ground on which his grandfather was going during the Battle of Bunker Hill, June 17, 1775, when and where he heard the cannon and saw the smoke of that memorable conflict between the Continental and British armies.

—The land on which the corn grew is in the southern part of Woburn, over on the Highlands.

—People are wondering why Durward's German Band from Boston—two fiddles and a harp—have not put in an appearance here this summer. For years and years they made weekly visits to this city, and as they played the best of music artistically, were always warmly welcomed and generously rewarded. Wonder if they are all dead and gone? And "Old Fatty," who was liked so well, wonder what has become of him? He was a rare player, although he held his fiddle oddly enough, and for drawing ravishing strains from the catgut he had no equals. The harper was a good one too. Wonder what has become of the little German Band?

—Mr. Henry W. Berthrong, who fills an important office in the customs service of Cuba, is at his home in Arlington on leave of absence. He has near relatives and many friends in Woburn who will be glad to have him come this way and drop in on them.

—Mr. Berthrong is a Veteran of the Civil War and was once a member of Post 33, G. A. R., in this city. Since the War he has served almost continuously in the Boston Custom House until sent to Cuba to superintend the customs service in that Island. He has painted more campaign portraits of National candidates than all other artists put together. In 1896 Mark Hanna employed him to execute innumerable portraits of the Republican candidates. Perhaps he will do something at it this campaign.

—According to a statement found in the last issue of the Readers Oracle there are close on to 400 empty dwellings in the beautiful new city of Melrose. We thought Woburn was badly enough off in this respect, but Melrose beats us and is entitled to the palm. From other sources we learned that Melrose Highlands is sorely afflicted with empty houses, and "To

Let's or "For Sale" meets the traveler's needs in all directions. The fact is, there has been too much building in the suburbs in the last few years. The business has been overdone and many cities and towns are now suffering the consequences. Again a large share of the houses are cheap ones; that is, they are made to look well on the outside, but are shams inside. Contractors and promoters have built them to sell. Melrose, in an especial manner, is suffering from too many of this class of dwellings.

—Initiation Canoe Club was represented at the Worcester meet last Saturday by Commodore Charles M. Howe, Messrs. Wm. W. Crosby, Fred W. Crumpton, Frank H. Sawyer, Harry V. Dimick, Fred W. Fowler, Willard K. Fowle, G. Wm. Buchanan, Clifton G. Buchanan, Harry Brown, Fred F. Hovey, Fred T. Dow, Edward F. Weyer, Edward T. Brigham, Edward Johnson, Edwin S. Knowlton and Raymond Apollonia. They returned on Monday, well pleased with the manner in which they were entertained by the Worcester boys, and with the trip. Initiation Club, with Dimick and Fowler at the oars, won the tandem double-blade event in a home designed canoe with a crack Canadian team against them, which was a handsome victory. They also won seconds in three events against large fields. Mr. W. W. Crosby was judge in the various events. Our boys were well satisfied with their work. The meet is to be at Lawrence next year.

—Cummings, Chute & Co., the coal, hay and grain dealers of High street, have been operating their coal pocket just about a year, and the longer they use it the better they like it. It was a valuable improvement to their large plant, costing a good deal of money on the start, but it was a wise investment for the pocket pays. Its storage capacity is 1300 tons, and it hoists from 50 to 60 tons an hour. It enables the firm to accomplish as much with two teams as with three before its installation, thus materially lessening the expenses of the establishment. But the feature which the firm prize the highest is the process of screening the coal. In this respect the pocket is absolutely perfect. In hand screening it is impossible to turn out coal entirely clean, the reasons for which are obvious; but by the new process the difficulty is entirely overcome, and the coal goes into the wagons a pure burnable article free from screenings of every name and nature. This point is insisted on by Cummings, Chute & Co. who invite expert investigation of the truth of their statements.

He grew worse and a physician was called, but the medicines administered failed to give relief, and last Tuesday he was taken to the Mass. Gen. Hospital. ## A CUNNING WILDCAT.

HE PROVED HIMSELF TO BE AS TRICKY AS ANY FOX.

The clever Park in which it outwitted a Pack of Hounds. Entitled him to his Freedom, but He failed to Win it After All.

In many parts of Tennessee hunting wildcats is as popular a sport as the fox chase. The wildcat is as tricky as the fox. He has still a more dogged way of sticking to the thickest cover and the most rugged ground, and when once overtaken he will generally fight till he dies.

Some years ago I witnessed a wildcat perform an act of cunning quite as remarkable as any I have heard attributed to the fox. With six other hunters, men I was camped near the headwaters of Buffalo creek, not far from the Alabama line, when we determined to try a wildcat chase and for that purpose went to a thickly wooded strip of country lying between the Buffalo and one of its tributary streams. In the dense woods there are occasional small openings connected by a few old roads which we could traverse on horseback. Only at the lower end of this strip of woods were there any fences or logs, to which the wildcats would be likely to retreat.

Our chase began on a cloudy, drizzling morning, a capital time for the hunt, for in such weather the game is easily started and the trail is strong. Three of our party, including myself, took positions near the junction of the two streams in the edge of a small space that was clear of undergrowth, but set with smaller trees. The other four, taking the dogs, went some ten miles up the river to start the game, which would probably pass near our position, either to take refuge in a neighboring bluff on the river bank or, if more likely, to dodge the hounds by winding among the rocks and trees doubling on their trail.

We waited fully two hours, when we heard the distinct cry of a hound and soon afterward a full chorus of the dogs. They were coming toward our place of concealment, although, yet far off, and to judge from their cry the trail was growing hotter every moment. After a run of some 20 minutes the steady bay was succeeded by a din of short, sharp yelps, and then we knew the pack had caught the game. We kept perfectly quiet among the bushes, our guns ready for action, and when the hounds were about a quarter of a mile distant we heard a rustling among the bushes between us and the dogs, a succession of light, springing bounds, and then an enormous wildcat leaped into the clearing.

We should have fired but that our curiosity was roused by the eccentric movements of the creature. For an instant he looked back in the direction of the hounds; then, making several active springs to the left, he returned to his trail and made as many springs to the right. Then turning he jumped upon the trunk of a leaning chestnut tree which, having been blown down, had been broken off at some 40 feet from the root. The break was seven or eight feet from the ground, and the leaning trunk was pointing in the direction from which the hounds were coming.

The cat ran quickly to the upper end, but instead of leaping off, as we expected, he scrambled underneath the trunk and crawled out upon a broken limb that projected two or three feet from the lower side. Here he sat, close crouched, with his great yellow eyes glaring fiercely.

Pretty soon the dogs came up in full cry on the trail. Three old hounds led the pack, and when within a few paces of the cat they were a little puzzled when they came to where the cat had turned aside. The other hounds, most of them being young, scattered over the open place, all the while baying lustily, but without striking the trail at all. The leaders, having made several starts in different directions, finally struck the trail and were forthwith joined by the others. Up the trail they went with sonorous bay one right after the other.

Under the end of the log on the broken limb still crouched the wildcat, motionless as stone, except as he bent his fierce yellow eyes around him and moved his short tail slowly from side to side. Only the thickness of the log was between him and the foremost hound. Still he did not move, but only crouched closer to the limb. His pursuers paused but for a moment on the log and then leaped to the ground in quick succession. After a little confusion in searching for the trail they started off at full speed on the back track and were soon some distance from the place.

The cat did not move from his place until the hounds were well out of sight. Then, raising his head, he cautiously looked round, and, finding no enemies in sight, he sprang lightly to the ground and started to make off another way. I wished to reward the animal's sagacity by allowing it to escape unhurt, but a shot from one of the party stopped its course. Youth's

ALL HATS ALIKE TO HIM.

A Primitive Shopkeeper Who Sells Everything at the Same Price.

"You don't have to go to Arkansas to find characters," said a New York man who spent a season in Washington. "In one street of the national capital the sightseer does not often travel unless he is especially piloted he will find primitive methods of business which will cause him to forget for the moment that he is in an otherwise beautiful and attractive city. I had business in one of the departments and by and after went into this street and soon got interested in its great variety of shops and people who do not look like the Washington people you see in other parts of the city."

"A sign over the door of one of the shops attracted my attention, and, as I indicated an article I wanted, I went in. To make the story more complete, call it a hat store."

"The proprietor was in the rear end of his shop reading a newspaper. His feet were on a box, and his knees were on a line with his chin. I have no reason to surmise his politics, but I had seen him in Cincinnati and I should have spotted him as a delegate to the late Pop convention which met there. As he made no sign of doing from his comfortable position I walked back. He was smoking a cob pipe, wore spectacles, and a straw hat was on the back of his head."

"Are you the proprietor?" I asked. "Well, I'm the owner. I reckon it's the same," he replied.

"I came in to buy a hat."

"What kind a hat you want? He was in the same attitude."

"I said I guessed a derby would suit best."

"Well, I reckon I can fix you. What's yer size? (Still sitting.)"

"I gave him the figure, and he looked at the shelves as if he were trying to select the number with his eyes."

"Well," he said after his survey, "that's the soft uns on that side and that's the soft uns on 'other side. S'pose you just look along and see what you like."

"I was in no hurry and conformed to the custom of the shop. I tried on several hats, and while I was so engaged the shopman resumed reading his newspaper, which I had noticed was a West Virginia publication. When I found a hat that suited, I harked back to know the price. He looked up from his paper and replied:

"I tried another hat and again asked the price. He didn't look up this time, but said: 'Same price. All the hats in the store's same price.'"

"One hat as good as another?" I asked.

"Well, I don't know's to that. You never can tell anything about a hat till you wear it."

"How does it come that all are the same price?"

"Well, they're purty much the same when it comes to that; that's one reason. And it's harder to have every thing one price; that's another reason. He was still looking at the West Virginia news."

"I made my selection, walked back to the shopkeeper and handed him a $10 bill. He looked at it in a wondering way and then asked wearily:

"'Ain't you got nothin' smaller'n that?'"

"I said I had not. He laid down his West Virginia publication reluctantly and sighed audibly. Then he took his feet from their attitude, got up stretched himself and said:

"'Well, set down and make yourself at home while I go out and get the change.'"

"He was gone about 20 minutes. On his return he had a handful of bills.

"'Cheer up, he dogged it, sidestep around here,' he said, 'that it takes a right smart while to git it. I had to go four squares for this.'"

"As he counted out my part I asked, 'What's this hat?'"

"'Huh?'"

"'Whose make is this hat?'"

"'Oh, dogged if I know! They're all the same make. Buy 'em all in same place.'"

"Send my old one to my hotel," I said as I gave him the address.

"'When you want?'"

"'Any time today.'"

"'Reckon I can't send it today. Boy's gone fishin. Send it tomorrow.'"

KIDNEY TROUBLES OF WOMEN

Miss Frederick's Letters Show How She Relied on Mrs. Pinkham and Was Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have a yellow, muddy complexion, feel tired and have bearing down pains. Menstrues have not appeared for three months; sometimes am troubled with a white discharge. Also have kidney and bladder trouble."

I have been this way for a long time, and feel so miserable I thought I would write to you and see if you could do me any good."—Miss EDNA FREDERICK, Troy, Ohio, Aug. 6, 1899.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound according to directions, and can say I have not felt so well for years as I do at present. Before taking your medicine I was more miserable person you indicated an article I wanted I went in. I did not care to talk with any one. Now I feel so well I cannot be grateful enough to you for what you have done for me."—Miss EDNA FREDERICK, Troy, Ohio, Sept. 10, 1899.

Backache Cured

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I write to thank you for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. It is the only medicine I have found that helped me. I doctored with one of the best physicians in the city of New York, but received no benefit. I had been ailing for about sixteen years, was so weak and nervous that I could hardly walk; had continued pain in my back and was troubled with leucorrhoea. Menstrues were irregular and painful. Words cannot express the benefit I have derived from the use of your medicine. I heartily recommend it to all suffering women."—Mrs. MARY BASHINGORE, Windsor, Pa.

A DEAL IN WHISKY.

The Profits Were Not So Large as the Buyers Expected.

"There are tricks in the whisky business as well as in others," said the drummer for a large compounding firm, "and I remember once how the firm I was with got stuck. One day a man drove up in a one horse wagon carrying one barrel of whisky, which he wanted to sell. He told me he was a kind of a story about an old uncle dying and leaving it to him; but, as he couldn't afford to use as good liquor as it was, he had concluded to sell it."

"We took the barrel into the house, and, as the man was so anxious to get the siphon and drew off a glass of it to sample. And it was fine. The barrel showed age, and the liquor tasted it. It was worth $10 a gallon if it was worth a cent, but we didn't give the man the whole story. We sold it to the weight that there were at least 40 gallons of it, and we made him an offer of $150 for the barrel. He higgled awhile, but took the money at last and drove away."

"After the course of a couple of weeks we concluded to put that whisky in bottles and sell it as case goods, so we set the siphon to work at the bung and began to draw it off. After the fourth bottle had been drawn the siphon refused to work, and we examined it to find what was wrong. We could not get it at that way, and, as the contents seemed to be all right, we set the barrel on end and bored another hole in it. Then the siphon worked, but the liquor was much taker, and one of the men tasted it. By George, it wasn't whisky at all! It was only water, colored somewhat from the charred inside of the barrel."

"That scared us, and we smashed the head in to see what was inside, and we saw in a minute. The wily cuss had filled a can with fine old whisky to the bung where we made the examination before purchasing, and when that had been used up, the whole story had been told. He had probably paid $8 for the gallon to fill the can, and we sold it for $250 a bottle, but we didn't get a blamed cent for the 39 gallons, more or less, of water that filled the rest of the barrel."—Washington Star.

The Tomahawk or Tomahawk.

The tomahawk eventually came to designate the "war hatchet," and, as such, supplied by the military commanders of the whole continent in equipping the warriors on the many expeditions in which French and English were constantly engaged, and was furnished them in large quantities by the English in their war of independence.

This weapon was either in the form of a spear or hatchet blade on one side, while upon the opposite side was a cuplike cavity, with a small hole extending into the eye of the wood handle, to which a tough handle of wood was fitted 18 inches or two feet in length. The handle was perforated almost its entire length, and below the hollow of the bowl it was bored at right angles to this perforation a hole about 2 inches in diameter, for the passage of the tobacco smoke when the implement was in use as a pipe.

The tomahawk pipe was not only at trade and popular in trade, but, like the earlier trade pipe, was a common present at councils and ratifications of treaties. It was a pipe, a hatchet and a mace or hammer all in one and answered an important military requirement in leading the warrior to victory. The warrior would have tenaciously held to the stone pipe, which in itself was heavier than the tomahawk. Smithsonian Institution Report.

The Tramp's Advice.

She was standing on the front porch reading the story paper, which had just come in the mail.

"Adam," said Meandering Mike, "did I see you brush away a tear Jesus now?"

"S'posin I did," she returned. "It's no business of yours."

"I spoke in kindness, lady. You ain't treatin' yourself right to cry over nothin' but a story. It's a double strain on yer eyes, an you might as well listen to my hard luck stories an save yer eyes exclusively for do weeps. If you likes touchin' stories, lady, here's yer chance. I've brought in a new book, an you needn't pay $2 a year's subscription in advance, neither. It's do chance of yer life, lady, to trade off old victuals for pathos."—Washington Star.

What to Do With Them.

"Just before Montana became a State," said a teller—"Helen, 'the Clark-Carter' contest, and as was bitterly it was fought out. Anything that could be turned or twisted into a campaign argument was sought out and brought to the front. 'Commissions' was at that time head. The general land office, had made a ruling that thereafter no trees less than eight inches in diameter should be cut down for agricultural or mining purposes in territory belonging to the United States."

"This ruling had aroused a storm of indignation in Montana and had straightway assumed a prominent place as one of the main issues in the Clark-Carter campaign. I was speaking one night at Bozeman, and, as was natural, I attacked this ruling of the land commissioner and showed, at least to my own satisfaction, what injury and injustice it did to both farmer and miner, and I worked up to what had always previously proved so an effective peroration by asking the question, 'What, my fellow citizens, can the farmer do with eight inch trees?'"

"The answer to this had previously invariably been silence, but this time a shrill voice in the rear of the hall blurted out, 'Why, split 'em, of course, ye confounded fool!' and I sat down amid the ruid and derisive jeers of that vast audience."—New York Tribune.

Adjourned by Reporters.

"Well, that bumps me," said the color of the speaker's face. "The newspaper reporters are always in a full flower, but I didn't know that they assumed to legislate for the state."

"All I know is," asserted the judge again, "that two newspaper reporters have just adjourned a session of the Illinois senate."

"How'd they do it—choke the speaker with copy paper?"

"No; they were very civilized about it. It was one day when everybody expected the speaker to adjourn the session, counting Dave Littler, who was in the chair."

"I want to get an interview with Littler when this thing's over," said one newspaper man.

"So do I," said the other. "I move that we adjourn," he shouted at Littler. "I second the motion," said the first reporter.

"It is moved and seconded that we adjourn," said Littler solemnly.

"Those in favor will signify it in the usual manner."

"Aye!" shouted both of the reporters.

"Carried," said Littler.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Speaker Reed's Retort.

Growing tired of his chair one afternoon, Speaker Reed surrendered it to a member and sat down beside a western Democrat.

"My, what a large hand you have!" remarked Mr. Reed, looking intently at the enormous paw of his Democratic friend, who was writing a letter.

"Yes, sir," said the member, "and I am proud of it. I worked on a farm for so many years that my hands grew large, as you see them."

"And you used up his small and shapely right hand, smooth and white as a woman's, and said:

"'Well, I thank the Lord I never worked on a farm.'"

The member replied, "You are probably a better talker and a better writer than I am. And if you did fill the placard that statement all over the country. And what would you do about it?"

"The big fellow mused awhile and said:

"'Nothing—except to brand you as an infernal liar!'"—Success.

A Frank Confession.

An old fellow who had made money by selling whisky in a village on fair and market days was visited when she lay dying by a minister, to whom she spoke about her temporal as well as her spiritual affairs.

"You tell me you are worth all that money?"

"Indeed, minister, I am," replied Molly.

"And you tell me," continued the minister seriously, "that you made it by filling the noggin?"

"Na, na, minister," exclaimed the dying woman; "I made most of it by not fillin the noggin!"

Force on the Piano.

It has been calculated that a minimum pressure of the finger of one-quarter of a pound is now to sound a note on the piano and that at times a force of six pounds is thrown on a single key to produce a single effect. Chopin's last study in C minor has a passage taking two minutes five seconds to play that requires a total pressure estimated at three full tons.

In a Bad Fix.

Gadzoos (in a restaurant)—Don't let us sit at that table. I gave the waiter a tip yesterday, and he will expect another today.

Zonnds—Well, how about this table? Gadzoos—Won't do. I have never fed the waiter, and he would doubtless expect me to begin today.—New York Tribune.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON XIII, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 24.

Text of the Lesson, a Comprehensive Quarterly Review—Golden Text, Math. vi, 10.—Comments Prepared by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1900, by D. M. Stearns.)

LESSON I.—The beatitudes (Math. iv, 23, to v, 12). Golden Text, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God" (Math. v, 8). The Teacher is God manifest in the flesh, and the words are the words of God (I Tim. iii, 16; John xiv, 10), and the words are the words of God, and He would reproduce both words and works in some measure in each believer if we were fully yielded to Him, and we are "in Christ's stead," that the life of Jesus may be manifested in our mortal bodies (II Cor. v, 20; iv, 10, 11).

LESSON II.—Precepts and promises (Math. vi, 1-14). Golden Text, Math. vi, 12. "The Lord is my strength, and I will drag out of you ye even so to this. This lesson is also part of the sermon on the mount, in which our Lord teaches us of the Father, His love to us and care of us and what attitude to Him and consequently to the world around us. He knows our Father and having confidence in Him takes away all anxious care and causes us to live to His glory."

LESSON III.—The daughter of Jairus raised (Mark vi, 22-24, 35-43). Golden Text, "The Lord is my strength, and I will drag out of you ye even so to this. This lesson is also part of the sermon on the mount, in which our Lord teaches us of the Father, His love to us and care of us and what attitude to Him and consequently to the world around us. He knows our Father and having confidence in Him takes away all anxious care and causes us to live to His glory."

LESSON IV.—The centurion's servant healed (Luke vii, 1-10). Golden Text, Ps. ciii, 1. "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him." It is a mistake to think that we can be worthy to receive anything from God, and that we are to be given to us freely in Christ, and for His sake (Rom. iii, 24; vs. 32). He is worthy, and it becomes us to pray, "O Lord, though our iniquities testify against us, do Thou for Thy name's sake" (Jer. xiv, 7).

LESSON V.—Jesus and the Baptist (John vi, 1-15). Golden Text, Mark vi, 37. "He hath made all things well." John the Baptist, great in the sight of the Lord, no greater ever born of woman (verse 23), was imprisoned for righteousness' sake and seemingly neglected by our Lord, sends messengers to Him, and He sends Him word that there is to be another. It looks as if John was offended, for the Lord Jesus sent the message to him, "Blessed is he who shall not be offended in Me" (verse 23).

LESSON VI.—Jesus warning and inviting (Math. x, 20-29). Golden Text, "I have been a jolly and delightful evening. At least that is what I have felt whenever I have been honored with an invitation in New York."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Humanity in Turkey.

"There's a good deal of human nature in a turkey," said a farmer. "The other day while I was settin in the barn door one of my turkeys come yerkin along, and pecked at me, and I finally spied a rag on the ground that every turkey had been travelin over for a week. Turkey picked it up and slatted it out. That minute every turkey in the yard started for him. He was evidently struck him all of a sudden that he had not hold of stuff that was as mighty valuable. He run, and as dodged, and he ducked, and he run some more. Every few minutes some one of them turkeys would get him by the wattles or else by the rag, and there would be a tug of war. And at last another turkey got the rag away, and then there was another chase. Guess them darn fool turkeys would have been runnin the fat off of themselves the next day if I hadn't set the dog on 'em."

"That's just the way with a turkey. Let any other one in the dock get hold of stuff, and every one of the blamed fools will start for him or her and run till they fairly drop."

"And, as I have said, there is a good deal of human nature right there."—Leviston Journal.

A Dinner of Mule and Axle Grease.

The following is an incident of the siege of Ladysmith narrated by Sir William MacCormac:—"An officer related an incident which will serve to illustrate the lengths to which the mule had gone as regards food. A shell fell into the mule lines one afternoon, killing one mule. In spite of other shells following the first one in rapid succession, so as to make the mule's death very dangerous, the men who were in the midst of wolves, that they must not fear them which kill the body, that they must trust the spirit for the words they are to speak and have

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 29, 1900.

ENTHUSIASTICALLY EN-DORSED.

The Republican National ticket is cordially endorsed by the Party in every section of the Union.

Republican leaders, statesmen, and editors of influential papers, pronounce it the strongest that could have been nominated.

The opinion is expressed in all quarters that it will be elected by an overwhelming majority.

The Party, and not the bosses, had nominated McKinley and Roosevelt long before the convention met, and the delegates at Philadelphia simply ratified their choice.

It is a great team.

The Fifth Massachusetts Regiment Veterans of the Civil War Association held their annual reunion at Medford last Tuesday. About 200 members were present by whom a season of rare pleasure was enjoyed. The Woburn Brass Band furnished music, and a goodly number of the Fifth Regiment Veterans of this city were in attendance. A royal banquet was spread for the company and keenly relished. A leading feature of the reunion was the presence of Miss Pearson, daughter of the gallant General George H. Pearson, and daughter of the Regiment, as Guest of Honor. She held a reception and met hearty greetings from all the "Old Boys" present. Speeches were made by several Vets, and on the whole the reunion was one of the pleasantest that has ever been held.

Western grain raisers are beginning to understand that the passage of the shipping bill will add so many new American ships to the foreign carrying trade as to reduce the rates of ocean transportation and thus give them a larger portion of the Liverpool price of their products. They will therefore look askance at the Democratic National platform if it declares for the free registry of foreign built ships with which to build up an American merchant marine, as they will know such a consummation would add nothing to the number of ships in existence and have no effect in reducing ocean freight rates.

The value of every cow on the farm on the first day of this year was $31.60. But on the 1st day of January, 1894, under Democratic administration, each cow was worth only $21.77. Farmers appreciate the increase of $10 in the value of each of their cows, and will vote to maintain the Republican Administration in power.

Labor's leaders will have a keen eye upon the coming Democratic National convention in order to see whether their fondness for British ships for the upbuilding of American shipping in the foreign trade will persuade them to favor the free registry of foreign (chiefly British) ships.

Perhaps Senator James K. Jones, of Arkansas, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, can enlighten the people as to the evil effects of trusts. He has for a long time been a member of the cotton balt trust.

Hon. Horace G. Wadlin, Chief of the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics of Labor, will please accept our thanks for a copy of Part 3, Vol. 4, of the State Census of 1895, which we will inspect and report on later in the season.

If the people of the country are against expansion how is it that nobody can be found to run for President on an anti-expansion policy platform?

— Miss Amelia P. McFarland will visit Europe this vacation season. She sails early in July and besides taking in the Paris Exposition will make the grand tour.

— The heavy rain of last Friday night did a power of good. It was sorely needed, for the gardens and fields had become very much dried up from a prolonged drouth.

— Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Irish have been visiting relatives and friends at their former home in Biddeford, Maine, as we learn from the Journal of that fine thrifty city.

— Captain John and Mrs. Gilcrest have been entertaining Mrs. Frank Gilcrest, wife of the Captain's son, from Hazelton, Pa. The children came on with their mother.

— Mrs. Page Eaton is expecting a visit from Rev. S. S. Marquis, former Rector of Trinity church, and wife this summer. The Marquises are residents of Detroit, Michigan.

— The "Conn case" is in a fair way of becoming celebrated one. The exercise of a little "horse sense" would have prevented all the "fuss and feathers" that it has given rise to.

— The Board of Public Works have petitioned the City Council to remove the street railway turnout on Main street from Walnut to Broad. The abutments don't want it removed.

— A resolution favoring the purchase of the Dow property on Montvale ave. for the new schoolhouse was adopted on a unanimous vote by the School Board last Tuesday evening.

— Merchants on Main st., are making a big kick against the removal of the street railway turnout from Walnut st. up, and no wonder at it. The idea is ridiculous, some would say idiotic.

Chamney's Sixty Years Memoirs of Art and Artists.

On Sale at 395 Main Street.

G. R. GAGE & CO.

— Principal Andrew R. Linscott of the Rumford School is going to stay right at home this summer and farm and "putter round." A sensible man is Principal Linscott.

— Fred C. Keen successfully passed an examination and has received his appointment as Postoffice Clerk under the Civil Service rules. He makes a nice, clean, courteous Clerk.

— Judge C. D. Adams, his spouse, Mrs. School Committenee Jennie K. and the chicks, are at their Nahant cottage for the summer. May their vacation be all that heart can wish.

— Yesterday Mrs. Charles Taylor laid us under obligations for a beautiful page. Truly, the JOURNAL has the best of reasons for endorsing the saying that "June is the month of roses."

— By a slip of the pen or types three errors are found in the B. & M. timetable as published today. In the second table "For Boston" 1.05 should be 1.00; 2.20 should be 2.21. In the 4th line 11.35 should be 12.00.

— H. S. Class '00 will hold their reception at the Auditorium this evening. The Woburn Brass Band have been engaged for the occasion. The Class Party will be held with Miss Isabelle Bowers, Greenwood street, on the evening of July 2.

— Miss Lena Nash, the new school-ma'am for Wyman School, is the daughter of Dr. Nash of North Berwick, Maine, and is as smart as they make 'em; indeed, the personal products of Old York County are never found wanting when weighed.

— It is news to the WOBURN JOURNAL that crows are great chicken thieves. Some years ago these birds carried off over 400 chickens from a farm near Highland avenue. Dozens of crows constantly hovered over the yards ready to pounce on the hapless chickens.—Winchester Star.

— Police Officer Austin G. French is off on a vacation, the first of the Police summer outings. He went to Haverhill and Groveland last Sunday on the electric, and returned up to Merrimack to Lowell, a charming ride, and by the Lowell, Bedford & Lexington line to Arlington. He says it is a fine road.

— Mr. A. A. Clement of Laconia, N. H., who is here harvesting the hay on his farm, had one of his knees badly hurt by a moving machine the other day by a moving machine that he was running. A horse attached to the machine started unexpectedly and a knife striking Mr. Clement's knee inflicting a serious wound.

— Reports to the contrary notwithstanding, the supposition is that Hon. E. D. Hayden, President of the Board of Trustees of the Woburn Public Library, will make the principal address at the dedication of the Rumford Monument, which is expected to take place in July. The bronze tablets for the Monument are not yet completed.

— Miss Edith Evelyn, daughter of ex-Alderman E. P. Marion, celebrated her twenty-first birthday Friday evening, June 22. Her many friends testified to their esteem by beautiful gifts. A beautiful collection was served and a delightful evening with vocal and instrumental music marked a milestone in life's journey long to be remembered.

— At the meeting of the School Board last Tuesday evening it was voted not to reappoint Miss Mae W. Nash, Principal of the Wyman School. Miss Chapman, next in rank, was appointed Principal, in place of Miss Nash. Miss Lena R. Nash was chosen to fill the vacancy occasioned by the promotion of Miss Chapman. She is a graduate of the Maine State Normal School at Gorham. The Board accepted the report of the committee on schoolhouse site.

— Mr. William A. Prior and family will summer at Duxbury, the home of the Priors from ancient and remote times. Duxbury, familiar to the Pilgrims, is a charming old town to spend the hot months at.

— Capt. J. M. Ellis's team was run into by an electric car in Winchester last Friday and made nearly a complete wreck of. Fortunately Capt. Ellis, who was thrown from the carriage, escaped with but slight injuries.

— The wife and son of Mr. William H. Slater, Central Square, are recovering from a long and severe illness. Mrs. Slater came near breaking entirely down with nervous prostration brought on by the death of their son.

— We said last week that Mrs. W. V. Kellen of Jamaica Plain is a niece of Mrs. Sturtevant, the liberal patroness of some Maine educational institutions, when it should have been stated that she is a daughter of that estimable lady. Miss Sarah W. Chamberlain of this city is a niece.

— Last Sunday afternoon Crystal Fount Lodge, I. O. O. F., held memorial services in their Lodge Room, and subsequently repaired to Woodstock cemetery and decorated the graves of deceased members. There was a large gathering of the Lodge both in the rooms and at the graves.

— The Audubon Clubs and friends of the birds have their fight with the milliners and dealers in millinery wares and hereafter the bonnets and hats of the women will sport less feathers, wings, breasts, etc. of birds than has been the case in recent years. It was a noble victory handsomely won.

— Principal Owen of the High School will pass his vacation in Maine this summer as usual. He expects to visit Monmouth, Oakland, Waterville, and spend considerable time in Aroostook county, which is a favorite summer haunt of his. Mrs. Owen will visit in New Hampshire during the absence of the Principal. The boy too will be in it, or break things.

— Superintendent Thomas Emerson of the Woburn schools left this morning for North Conway, N. H., where he owns a farm which he has cultivated during vacations for several years. He farms it for rest and recreation rather than dollars and cents and is generously rewarded. And besides, he dearly loves North Conway, which is called "The Paradise of Artists," and enjoys his summer outings there wonderfully well.

— About 150 people enjoyed the Class Day spread of Frederick Thompson Dow and Edward Johnson at Harvard University last Friday afternoon, notwithstanding the heavy rain. Over 200 backs, private carriages, and the railroad took many Woburn people, friends and relatives of the Dows and Johnsons, to Cambridge, who greatly enjoyed the hospitalities of the two smart young Woburn graduates. It was a great day for Harvard, and our Woburn boys were in it clean up to their necks. The visitors from this city brought back a glowing report of the spread and Class Day dongs.

— Aberjona Spring on Farmer Hall's estate in the northern part of this city has been secured by Mr. Roberts who will soon offer the water for sale in Woburn and neighboring towns at a price which will bring it within the reach of all. This spring has been quite freely used, but the water is not pure. Mr. Roberts proposes to furnish it to them for less than it used to cost to go and get it. It possesses rare medicinal properties, and in kidney diseases it is a sovereign remedy. Mr. Roberts will soon have a delivery team on the road and ready to receive orders for the water.

— Mrs. William Beggs and youngest son left yesterday for a Western trip, which will include the National Park, in company with Mr. Beggs, who went to Conference, Pa., last week to look after his tannery there, and who will meet his wife and son at Buffalo, N. Y., and continue the journey. They will also visit Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, where Mr. W. L. Murdock and Mr. Walter W. Case are employed by the Northwestern Leather Company the former as General Superintendent and Manager, and the latter as bookkeeper. Mr. Beggs, Mrs. Beggs and the son will be away about 4 weeks.

— Last Monday morning Mr. John Cummings, the Cummingsville grocer, cut from his bushes and presented to the JOURNAL people over one hundred of the largest, most beautiful, and most sweetly fragrant roses that we have ever laid eyes on or smelled of in our brief existence. We don't say this just to hear ourselves talk, or to please the neighbor Cummings, but to make the statement understandingly and honestly, and stand ready to back it up with the documents. If anybody doubts our word he or she is invited to go down to the house and look at the dishes that held the flowers. If that don't convince them then we give it up. There were 8 varieties, and in size and color they were ahead of any roses to be found elsewhere in this city, as we sincerely believe.

— The Floral Emblem Society of Massachusetts will have a (free) distribution of flowers to the school children of Boston on the morning of July 4th at the Horticultural Hall. To enable them to carry out their purpose, and so bring pleasure to many little ones who are denied the privilege of having flowers in their homes, they ask the co-operation of Florists, and the people of the suburbs, and earnestly invite contributions of flowers from all sources. Armstrong's Transfer Company have kindly consented to deliver all flowers and plants before ten o'clock July 4th, or they may be sent direct to the Hall. Baggage Masters at Woburn, Winchester and Stoneham will forward flowers.

— A recent number of Munsey's Magazine contains an illustrated paper entitled "The World's Greatest Canal," which gives the story and describes the Sault Ste. Marie canal which unites Lakes Huron and Superior in the north of Michigan. It is an interesting article. On this canal is located the plant of the Northwestern Leather Company, the largest of the kind in America. Mr. Bulavant of Boston is

THE BOMB

That Deals Death to Disease.

Recognized medical authorities concede that Pneumonia and Gripe are the outcome of the malarial germ. It is here (the root of the evil) where Dr. Gordon's Malarial Tablets are first to take effect. They are recognized as reliable by the medical fraternity. Perfectly harmless and pleasant to take.

For sale by druggists everywhere, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price—if your dealer can't supply you. 50c. a box.

President of the Company, and Mr. William L. Murdock, who has been superintending the erection of some of its great buildings during the last winter and spring, is Superintendent and General Manager, and Mr. W. W. Case, bookkeeper. The two last named gentlemen are from Woburn. The positions which they fill in the great leather making plant are important ones.

— A trader, who is not afraid to put money into advertising, particularly in the WOBURN JOURNAL, and to increase the amount when occasion requires, is sure to win in the race for business—sure! For an apt and conspicuous illustration of the above remark we point to Hammond & Son in Lyceum Hall building, Main street, this city. Withthorpe Hammond was never backward in leaving out dollars for judicious advertising, and what has he made by it? Business and Wealth! He stands on the top rung of the clothing trade; leads the procession in Middlesex county; makes money; and is an all round good fellow. Which comes from honest deal, big stocks, and advertising.

— The greatest affair that ever happened anywhere was pulled off at Woburn City Hall last Tuesday evening. It was the presentation of a long distance spyglass by the salaried officers of City Hall to City Solicitor Francis P. Curran, Esq., for use on his voyage to Europe, on which he sails for New York tomorrow. The invitations were delivered by a man on a bicycle to fortunate ones on the sidewalks. Water Registrar W. W. Wade superintended this branch of the business. The company was large and respectable. The inmates were in a great flutter all the afternoon. Mayor W. F. Davis made the presentation speech. It was made the presentation speech, and it was the eloquent beyond compare, and it was after City Solicitor Curran don't give the Mayor any kind of a "legal opinion" he may imagine his case calls for, then he must be an ungrateful wretch. Although taken entirely by surprise, Mr. Curran responded also eloquently. Mr. Curran can rise to lofty flights of oratory when he has a mind to. This remarkable occasion demanded the host he had in store, and he gave it to the crowd in generous measure. Cigars were distributed promiscuously, and everybody had the best kind of a time. Excepting the presentation ceremonies, the affair was entirely informal.

— Dr. A. L. Lane has rented the Dr. Graves residence on Pleasant st., of Mrs. Graves, for a term of three years, and will take possession August 1st.

— There will be a ball game between the Shirley A. A. of Woburn, and the Union of East Cambridge, at City Park on the 4th of July, at the picnic.

— The lightning last evening struck a tree off Walnut st. and split it in halves.

— It is reported that Mr. W. P. Cutler, Mr. Marcus Cotton's father-in-law, dropped dead in Lowell yesterday.

— Mr. J. F. DeLoria and family have taken possession of their fine summer residence at Marblehead Neck.

— Mr. E. E. Silva and family went to Derby Line, Vt., yesterday.

— 8 a. m., June 29. Fine rain last night: 73 in shade this morning.

A Catskill Hotel Man.

(From Catskill N. Y., Recorder.)
Mr. Joseph McRobert, one of our prominent hotel proprietors, has reason to extol the merits of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. In speaking of it he said: "I was all run down from kidney and liver trouble, three physicians treated me but I grew worse. A friend said to me, 'Why don't you take Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy?' It cured me." So I began its use the result was I gained daily, and in a little while I was sound and well again. I suppose I have recommended it to a hundred or more of my summer boarders, and in every instance it has done them good."

Senator Fairbanks of Indiana, who is said to have recommended Neely for appointment, wrote the report in behalf of the bill which extradited the accused postal official and delivers him to the Cuban courts for punishment. This is one of the things which explain why the Democratic politicians find in this Neely affair a very little political capital for use against the Republican Administration.
